Storm Sewer Caverns Attract Boys

A Star reporter and photographer went underground through a manhole cover to try to trace the trail of two youths through a maze of storm sewer tunnels in southeast Lincoln. The newsmen trudged through the labyrinth long enough to get the "feel" and a few pictures, then ascended back to fresh air and daylight. (Star Photo)

Soleful Dog Straddling Manhole Cover Touches Off Sewer Search For Boys

... Pair Already Home After 5-Block Underground Trip

By CHARLES GOMON
Star Staff Writer

Two boys who trudged five blocks through southeast Lincoln storm-sewers Sunday set off a police and firemen search of the vicinity for someone thought to have fallen into the conduits.

But John Clema, Jr. of 1601 Sunburst Lane and Don Walbaum, Jr. of 4034 Garfield, both 15, were safe at home by the time officers began probing the storm-sewer system.

Neighbors, alerted by the presence of John's dog "Blitz" lingering around a manhole at Coter and South Streets, summoned police in the belief that a child had fallen into the storm-sewer.

When no accident victim was found, officers traced the dog's registration to John's home, and found the boys at home.

The boys had decided to "take a short-cut" to Antelope Creek and entered the sewer, leaving the dog behind.

After making their way along new piping, the pair said they emerged from the labyrinth at 48th and Coter. Investigation by a Star reporter and a photographer failed to reveal sewer manholes in the vicinity which had been opened recently.

However the sewer system is apparently something of a favorite avenue for youths in the area, and indications were that some other persons may have been in the conduits during the morning.

The storm-sewer entered by the boys is 48 inches in diameter with about one inch of water running at the bottom.

About 50 yards from this entrance, four branches converge on a central chamber which measures 20 feet by 20 feet.

Cars clanging across distant manhole covers, echoes carrying the human voice for several seconds and the background drip of water, accent the weird atmosphere of the tunnels.

It was evident to reporters, attired in old clothes and equipped with flashlights, that one unfamiliar with the maze of passages might become confused without lights.

Neither Don or John was equipped with flashlights or other "spelunking" gear for their expedition.

PRO-WEST LEADING IN GREECE

... Margin Small

ATHENS, Greece (Monday) — Premier Constantine Karamanlis' pro-Western party appeared assured early Monday of a majority in the new Greek Parliament.

On the basis of mounting returns from Sunday's general elections, Karamanlis' National Radical Union was expected to elect 160 deputies in the 300-member Parliament, compared with 140 for a coalition of nationalist and Communist-line forces who joined in an effort to defeat the Premier.

It was not regarded a strong enough margin to guarantee a stable government.

The coalition was running ahead of the Karamanlis party in the popular vote but not in the distribution of parliamentary seats. This was due to the complicated election law governing the allotment of seats.

The final outcome will be known after tabulation of the big city vote, which best reflects the way seats will be apportioned.

But Athens newspapers already were giving Karamanlis 160 seats to 140 for the coalition on the basis of incomplete returns from over a third of the precincts.

Karamanlis retired early Monday without making a victory statement. But friends said the Premier apparently was satisfied he had won a majority.

Arab Tank Sale Angers Israel

... Mid-East Policy Inquiry Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban said Sunday the United States continues to embargo arms for Israel while permitting the shipment of 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia.

"The embargo on Israel still remains," he said, referring to the 50 million dollars worth of weapons Israel has been trying to buy from this country for months.

Eban declared the Eisenhower administration's reversal of its embargo on Middle East arms shipments served to aggravate his country's fear of Arab aggression.

Crew Agrees To Sail Ship Despite Tanks

NEW YORK (AP) — The freighter James Monroe prepared Sunday night for a dawn sailing after a crew dispute over bonus pay had threatened to delay shipment of 18 light tanks to Saudi Arabia.

Port Capt. R. H. Bennett said the matter was settled by giving the seamen an insurance policy of approximately $5,000. It will cover them in the event the vessel encounters trouble over the tanks.

The tanks were released after a two-day embargo by the State Department.

30 Signed

Thirty of the ship's crew of 33 earlier signed a petition demanding a wartime bonus. One member of the group said the bonus demand was 75 per cent.

The petition said in effect that the Israeli attitude of protest against the shipment constituted a risk to all personnel.

Bennett conferred with the crew as a representative of the Hellenic Lines, which has chartered the vessel.

Earlier Sunday, Zionist youth organizations staged a demonstration against the shipment, singing Israeli songs and shouting "Stop helping the Reds."

The demonstration at the ship's Brooklyn pier finally was called off after loading of the tanks went ahead without interruption.

The tanks were on a barge near the vessel when the embargo came Thursday.

Bennett declined to discuss the crew's bonus demands. He said the men were just a little worried over "possible reprisals or accidents" that might occur after the departure of the ship.

The 7,200-ton vessel, he said, was expected to sail at approximately 6 a.m.

The crew is of mixed nationality. All but the captain, chief mate and chief engineer were reported to have signed the petition.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Edward H. Butler, 72, editor and publisher of the Buffalo Evening News, died Sunday at his home. He suffered a heart attack.

He was vice president of The Associated Press from 1924 to 1926, and was an AP director from 1940-1950.

Traveling Light—Wears Birthday Suit For Journey

TOKYO (AP)—Katsue Furuta, 17, stripped off her clothes and leaped into the icy water of the imperial palace moat in downtown Tokyo.

For five minutes spectators watched as Katsue in her birthday suit outswam a policeman in his underwear. Finally, exhausted, she was captured and taken to a hospital.

"I was lured into the moat by the swans," she said. "What's the use of clothes for anyone going on a one-way trip to heaven?"

—40 Marines Dead—Two From Nebraska Victims

OCEANSIDE, Calif. (AP) — A Nebraskan and a former Nebraskan were among the 40 U.S. Marines killed in a transport plane crash at Alameda Naval Air Station Friday, according to a correct list of the victims issued Sunday by the Camp Pendleton public information office.

Listed as casualties were Pvt. William W. Henson of Omaha and Pfc. Frank Mulligan, a former resident of Sutherland, Neb.

Pvt. Henson was the son of Mrs. Leona Henson of Omaha. He had been stationed at Camp Pendleton.

Pfc. Mulligan had lived at Sutherland until he was about 20 years old, relatives said. The Marine Corps listed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Mulligan, as living at Daly City, Calif.

He was the grandson of E. A. Knowles of Sutherland and a brother of Tom Nielsen of Sutherland. His sister, Mrs. Ron Beffert of North Platte, said Mulligan's father, Tom Nielsen, lives in Omaha.

The sad task of identifying the remains of the Marines proceeded slowly Sunday while grim investigators sought answers to two questions:

1. What caused the military transport to smash into the treacherous hills while descending for a landing at the Alameda Station?

2. What caused the tragic mixup in manifests which resulted in release of an erroneous casualty list at Camp Pendleton?

Thirty-six of the 40 dead were from Camp Pendleton. The other six were from El Toro Marine Air Station near Santa Ana.

Issuance of the erroneous casualty list resulted in full investigations being ordered. Navy, Marine and Civil Aeronautics Administration investigations were started to find answers to the two questions.

Ike Expresses Concern; Talks To Sec. Benson

NO DECISION MADE YET

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower said Sunday the United States stands ready to make surplus farm commodities available to peoples of Western Europe suffering from one of the coldest winters in decades.

Expressing concern over the hardship there, Eisenhower said in a statement he already has consulted with Secretary of Agriculture Benson regarding a relief program.

"The United States," the President said, "stands ready to make supplies of agricultural commodities which we have in abundance available to relieving the distress of the people of those areas."

Eisenhower issued the statement at his vacation headquarters here. He is a guest at the plantation home of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Growing Concern

"I have observed with growing concern the reports that have come from Western European countries regarding the suffering and damage that has been caused by one of the worst winters in that area—possibly the worst in the past two or three decades," Eisenhower said.

"I want to extend my country's deepest and sincere concern for the suffering peoples in the afflicted areas."

The President said it is too early to assess the damage realistically, but added there is every indication there will be need for U.S. surplus crops.

"It has been reported, for example, that France alone has lost about one-third of her current wheat crop," the President said.

In response to questions, James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said he did not know whether the crop supplies would be provided free of charge to needy countries.

Three Courses

He noted that under the farm surplus disposal plan there is provision for three courses with regard to disposal abroad—sale, barter or outright gift. Two years ago

State To Have Fair Weather

Fair weather conditions and moderate temperatures were expected over the state Monday, according to Weather Bureau reports.

Partly cloudy skies were to prevail in the northeast portion of Nebraska, with fair and warmer weather in the west and central parts.

High temperatures Monday were expected to be in the lower 30's in the northeast, reaching the 40's over the southeast part of the state.

Lincoln, Omaha, Scottsbluff and North Platte were the warm spots in the state Sunday, with Omaha reporting the high of 40. Lincoln had 38.

In the western portion of the state Chadron reported a low of 4.

BLIZZARDS STILL RIP CONTINENT

LONDON (AP)—New blizzards ravaged Europe Sunday. February's icy fingers disrupted shipping, road and rail traffic, adding millions of dollars to the skyrocketing cost of the century's worst winter.

The three-week death toll climbed to 658.

In a blinding snow storm that swept the English Channel and the North Sea, the 2,374-ton British steamer Dorchester sank off the east English coast after collision with the 7,003-ton Liverpool steamer City of Sydney.

Rescue ships snatched 14 survivors from the icy waters, but one died and seven other crewmen were reported missing.

Siberian blasts blanketed London and most of England with snow, paralyzing highway traffic in many areas.

The relentless cold wave shaped up as a major disaster for snow-bound Italy, which counted 87 dead and for battered France, which reported 159 fatalities.

Avalanches and floods worried southern Italy while in the central peninsula a snow drifts up to 10 feet high trapped 11 trains. Alpine ski troops were called out to rescue stranded passengers.

'TWO PIGEONS, PLEASE!'

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

(The fifth chapter in The Star's Lenten series.)

By APRIL OURSLER
ARMSTRONG

"How do you bring up a baby who is the Son of God?"

"Should we make Him obey the same rules as everyone else?" Joseph wondered. "It is a strange thing to be the foster father of the Son of God, to have Him helpless in your arms, and watch over Him as if He were just an ordinary child."

Joseph and Mary had to decide quickly what they were going to do, because in the times they lived there were many rules about babies. One law said that when a family had its first boy-baby the mother and father must bring him to the Temple when he was exactly forty days old. The law said that the first son of each family should be offered to God, as a sign that the family loved and honored the Lord, and the family should buy either a lamb or a pigeon as an offering in the Temple.

"He is my first-born Son," said Mary. "And He should be taken to the Temple, and offered to God."

"But He is God," said Joseph. "Can such a law be meant for Him?"

"We obey the rules, Joseph," Joseph smiled. "Yes. God made the laws to show us how to live. And while we care for His Son, we must follow His laws."

And so it was that when the Baby was forty days old, the little family set out for Jerusalem. Jesus and Mary and Joseph and Anna and Joachim left the stable under the inn and rode on donkeys up the road to Jerusalem. The air was crisp and wintry, but the sun was bright, and the world looked beautiful to the mother with her Child in her arms.

The road led up through steep cliffs and ravines, and bleak brown hills. Jerusalem was on a high crest, and it shone in the sunlight like gold. The wall of the city was the color of a yellow cat, and it was made of tawny stones piled thirty feet high. In the wall were eight gates, and sixth watch towers guarded by the cruel soldiers of King Herod. But the baby Jesus and His family went in through the gate called the Sheep's Gate, and no soldier even turned to look at them; they seemed so poor and unimportant.

Star Staff Writer

OSCEOLA, Neb. — Polk County's new $235,000 hospital will be dedicated March 11 and will open a few days afterwards, according to Perry N. Sapp of Osceola, chairman of the hospital board.

Sapp said Gov. Victor Anderson and Dr. Charles W. Jeffrey of Rawlins, Wyo., will be the main speakers at the ceremonies, which will be held in the school auditorium. An all-day open house at the hospital will precede the evening ceremonies.

Dr. Jeffrey purchased $200,000 in construction bonds to make the hospital possible. It is named the "Annie Jeffrey Memorial County Hospital" in memory of his mother. Dr. Jeffrey was born in Osceola and was graduated from high school here.

Trust Fund

Sapp said the $20,000 which is due each year on the bonds will be paid into a trust fund to be used for operational expenses of the hospital. He said Dr. Jeffrey and the hospital board will jointly administer the fund. Dr. Jeffrey, Sapp said, donated the first year's interest received on the bonds to the trust fund and also has advanced the hospital amounts equaling the interest for the next two years.

Construction

Construction of the hospital began in November, 1954. It was completed December, 1955, and equipment is now being moved in. The 22-bed hospital will have a full and part time staff of 22 persons. Leslie C. Nash will serve as administrator and Mrs. Patricia Walgreen will be superintendent of nurses.

The four doctors in Polk County

—H. S. Ecklund and John Blodig of Osceola, R. L. Bierbower of Shelby and C. L. Anderson of Stromsburg —are all on the staff. The building has 11 patient rooms, all with private toilet and lavatory and three with baths.

Air Conditioned

Beds will be placed foot to foot, so that a curtain may separate the two patients in the room. The building is air conditioned and has provision for both oil and gas heating. Each room has oxygen outlets and has plugs for telephones and television sets.

Negro Doctor Killed; White Man Held

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — A prominent Negro doctor "threatened to get" a white department store owner shortly before the physician was shot to death in the department store office, Solicitor Gen. John H. Land said Sunday night.

He reported investigation showed Lucio Flowers, 54, told police he had been threatened by Dr. Thomas H. Brewer, 61, Negro leader and member of the local executive committee of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Police Capt. J. D. Armstrong said that before the shooting Saturday night "Flowers was very nervous and worried because he was afraid of what Brewer might do."

In Shock
Flowers appeared in a state of shock when he was picked up by officers on a technical charge of investigation. He was taken Sunday to Cobb Memorial Hospital in adjoining Phenix City, Ala., where he was under a physician's care.

The reason for transporting him across the state line was not clear and Land declined to comment on the move.

Land said the investigation so far indicated a personal dislike had existed between the two for some time and that this apparently was the reason for the shooting.

7 Bullets
Seven bullets from a .25 caliber automatic pistol cut down Dr. Brewer, about 55, shortly after he entered Flowers' office, Land said. The solicitor quoted a witness as

Snow Mass Buries Party; Prof Killed

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N. H. (AP) — Tons of snow and ice broke off the headwall of dangerous Tuckerman's Ravine Sunday and hurled down on a party of five Massachusetts men out for a "Sunday afternoon stroll."

One was missing and believed dead. Four escaped.

The missing man was identified as Aaron Leve, 28, Boston, a professor at Northeastern University.

Survivors are Albert Sanderson, 51, Wayland, also a Northeastern professor; George Speers, Newton, Northeastern's assistant director of alumni relations; Charles Fay Up-ton, a draftsman; and Frank Truesdale, Framingham assistant principal of Ashland High School.

The survivors were uninjured save for minor bruises and sprains. They were described as "badly shaken up" by the experience.

Sanderson said the party was walking in the bottom of the ravine when a section of the head-wall, perhaps weakened by high temperatures, broke off. All but Fay were buried in the ice and snow.

26 Million 1955 Babies To Flood Colleges By 1973

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau Sunday predicted a college-age population of 26 million by 1973, when babies born in 1955 will be ready to enroll.

That compares with the present figure of about 15,000,000 young men and women 18 to 24 years old, the lowest number in 25 years.

Today's college-age group was born during the depression years, when birth rates were low.

The Census Bureau said that for the rest of the current decade there will be small annual gains.

The college-age group will grow "quite rapidly" from 1960 to 1965 when World War II babies reach college age.

In addition to the population growth, the Census Bureau said, pressure on colleges will be increased by the rising trend in the proportion of college-age persons who do enroll.

Governor To Talk Top Issues With Washington Men

Gov. Victor E. Aderson plans to discuss two topics of importance to Nebraskans—the farm problem and the Veterans Hospital—while in Washington, D. C., this week.

The governor, who will be in the capital from Tuesday to Thursday, said he plans to discuss the Nebraska farm problem with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson.

Gov. Aderson also said he plans to discuss whether it is economically advisable to build a new hospital for the Lincoln Air Force Base or whether it would be better to take over facilities now used as the Veterans Administration Hospital here.

'TEDDY' ROOSEVELT, WASHINGTON, LINCOLN SCORED AERIAL FIRSTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pegasus magazine said Sunday that President George Washington issued a pilot's license in 1793, Abraham Lincoln was the first president to use an air corps in battle, and Theodore Roosevelt was the first president to fly.

The magazine, published by the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md., said Washington issued the first U. S. flight certificate or pilot's license to Jean Pierre Blanchard at Philadelphia in 1793. Blanchard descended from the flight in Gloucester County, N. J.

The magazine said Lincoln took a personal interest in the Aeronautical Corps of the Army of the Potomac. Northern forces used balloons to observe movements of the Confederate troops, and made ascensions from ships as well as from land.

Roosevelt made his first flight after leaving office, at an Aero Club meet in St. Louis in 1910. Arch Hoxsey was the pilot on the four-minute flight.

MAYBE THEM THAR TEXANS JUST LIKE THEM THAR LARGE PETS

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the kind of a mild winter day on which anyone would enjoy a stroll on 53rd Street between Broadway and Eighth Avenue.

So Patrolmen Samuel Sapan and William J. Brennan saw nothing unusual in the crowd of 200 pedestrians.

What surprised them was a two-ton elephant.

They approached Mack MacDonald, 55, dressed in a cowboy suit, and the elephant, named Opal.

"Don't you know," Sapan asked, "you're violating the administrative code?"

"No," said MacDonald, of Harlem, Tex.

"Would you walk this elephant on the sidewalk of your home town?"

"Well," said Sapan, "this is the big league. Elephants and pedestrians don't mix in this town."

MacDonald will get a chance to express himself on this point in Lower Manhattan Magistrate's Court next Friday.

Meanwhile, he returned Opal, visiting town for a TV appearance, to her trailer-truck.

Evidence Accepted In Magazine Case; Closer To Trial

A case in Municipal Court in which Oliver Pocras, doing business as the Lincoln News Agency, is charged with the sale of "obscene, lewd and indecent publications" has moved closer to trial with acceptance of certain evidence and stipulations.

Offered in evidence by Assistant City Attorney Thomas Gorham and accepted by Judge John Jacobson were three publications in question. Also accepted by the court was a stipulation signed by Gorham and Defense Attorney Frederick Wagoner, admitting that the publications were sold or offered for sale by Pocras.

By this, the defense leaves to be determined only the question of whether the publications are "obscene, lewd and indecent" as charged.

Attorneys and the court agreed also to submission of the prosecution's brief by March 3, the defense brief by March 17 and the city reply to the defense by March 24. Oral arguments will be heard after the briefs have been studied by the court.

Gas Bill Veto May Hit GOP On Ag Plans

... Sen. Knowland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said Sunday President Eisenhower's veto of the gas bill may have upset previously held Republican hopes for sufficient Senate votes to maintain flexible farm price supports.

Knowland, the Senate minority leader, said in an interview that since the veto he is uncertain whether enough Republicans can be held in line to defeat a Democratic-sponsored move to restore rigid supports.

The Senate may take up this week a farm bill calling for rigid supports on basic field crops and a "soil bank," resigned to reduce output and bolster farm prices. Under the proposed soil bank, growers of corn, cotton, rice and wheat would get payments in cash or crops for retiring acreage from production.

Stands Firm

Eisenhower has stood firmly behind the flexible program, but some of those on whom Republican leaders had counted for support were smarting under the veto of a gas bill they had voted for in the belief the President wanted it passed.

Knowland said Eisenhower's veto "may complicate some of the problems we face in the Senate."

Knowland had wanted the President to sign the bill, which would have relieved natural gas producers from direct federal price controls.

Eisenhower said he favored the principle behind it but, in a clear reference to the proffered $2,500 campaign donation to Sen. Francis Case (R-SD), objected to what he termed "arrogant" efforts by a segment of the gas and oil industry to have the bill passed.

Bid Opening Date Set For Home For Aged

OBERLIN, Kan.—Bids on construction of a $160,000 County Home for the Aged, for which voters recently approved a bond issue, will be opened March 12 at the Decatur County Courthouse.

County Treasurer Rites Held Sunday

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — Funeral services for Rudolf B. Schurman, Dodge County treasurer for 16 years, were held Sunday.

He died Friday after a brief illness.

Mr. Schurman moved to Fremont with his parents when he was 2 and had lived there 75 years.

A pioneer in the automobile field, he bought his first car in 1903 and had worked as an auto salesman. At one time, he also taught high school mathematics.

The Dodge County board of supervisors may name a successor to Schurman Monday.

Board members said every effort was being made to speed the changeover process to enable resumption of sales of 1956 car and truck licenses. Sales were suspended after Schurman's death.

The treasurer's office will remain closed until a crew of auditors from the office of State Auditor Ray C. Johnson can audit the books.

The audit is required by bonding companies which furnish the $125,000 bond required by law for a county treasurer.

WESTINGHOUSE DISPUTE END HOPES RISING

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials privately expressed new hopes Sunday for an early solution to the 126-day Westinghouse strike.

They based their hopes largely on the combination of federal and outside mediators that has teamed up in an all-out settlement effort beginning here Monday.

Dr. George W. Taylor, chairman of the War Labor Board during World War II, and David L. Cole, former Federal Mediation Service director, agreed to help the present mediation director, Joseph F. Finnegan, on the case.

Sources close to the four-month old labor-management scrap, one of the worst in modern times, said Cole and Taylor would not have entered the case without feeling that both sides had exhausted themselves and now are willing to "fall into line."

The dispute has idled more than 50,000 workers. Taylor and Cole were major labor peacemakers for the government under Democratic administrations and have since become two of the most highly regarded labor relations experts outside Washington.

Waugh Scheduled For Omaha Talk

OMAHA (AP) — Samuel Waugh, former Lincoln man now president of the Export-Import Bank in Washington, will speak at an Omaha Chamber of Commerce public affairs luncheon March 1.

Chairman Richard H. Hiller of the luncheon committee said Waugh would describe the bank's role in the economic picture.

Waugh has headed the bank since Oct. 1, 1955. He previously served as deputy under secretary of state for economic affairs and as assistant secretary in the same division.

Mt. Suribachi's Bald Dome—

Haunting Taps Remember 6,000 Who Died On Iwo

IWO JIMA (AP) — The lonely notes of taps sounded from Mt. Suribachi Sunday in memory of 6,000 American fighting men who died on this island 11 years ago.

Four hundred Marines and Navy men engaged in war games assembled atop Suribachi's bald, scarred dome for the ceremony.

"At approximately this same moment on Feb. 19, 1945," Maj. Gen. Thomas A. Wornham said in his tribute, "the first of our comrades fell on this ugly and lonely island."

"Those of us who were with them will never forget their deeds," said Gen. Wornham, a colonel when he led the 27th Marines, 5th Marine Division, onto Iwo's beaches 11 years ago. "I feel sure those who fought here would want no eulogy. These men were not martyrs. They represented all races and creeds. Each had a job to do."

In the crowd that had climbed the mountain for the services were 32 who had jobs to do that day. Lt. (jg) George Buse of St. Louis, Mo., the Navy chaplain who gave the invocation, was among them.

The eternal stopped as five Navy jets streaked overhead. An American flag whipped in a stiff breeze.

"To those who died, may you rest in peace," the general concluded. "To those who were maimed, may your pain be eased. To those who survived, may we never forget our comrades. To those who have joined us since, may you be as worthy if put to the test."

Although no one was hurt in the blasts, Good was blown across the basement of his home in the second explosion.

Good said he noticed a fire in the Reed home, and since the family was away, ran to the house and managed to get a door open.

The draft increased flames in the basement, and he was standing at the rear of the house when the explosion came.

About 2½ hours later, he said, he went to the basement of his own home to light a hot water heater.

When he struck a match, Good said flame flashed through the basement and an explosion followed. His wife and three children and two visitors were upstairs at the time.

Both homes have propane gas piped from the Morton Manufacturing Co., about a block north. The houses are owned by the company.

12,000 Strike At 4 Republic Plane Plants

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — A strike of 12,000 production workers Sunday hit Republic Aviation Corp's four Long Island plants.

The company has a backlog of some 500 million dollars in orders from the federal government, its only customers. It produces parts for guided missiles and a variety of planes, including the new supersecret F105, which flew faster than the speed of sound in tests last August.

The walkout over a contract started at midnight and pickets were posted at the main plant here and the other three in Hicksville, Port Washington and Greenvale.

Republic employs approximately 18,000 at the four plants. The striking International Assn. of Machinists represents 12,000 of this number. The rest are engineers, scientists, supervisory workers and office employees.

The union said no one would be admitted when the first big shifts report at 7 a.m. Monday except for 50 Air Force officers stationed at the plants.

'Second Best' Air Force All U.S. Paying For, Says Gardner

WASHINGTON (AP)—Trevor Gardner, a central figure in the hot dispute over the pace of U.S. aircraft-missile progress, said Sunday night that the money allotted for next year can guarantee this country no better than "the second best air force in the world."

If the United States is to keep pace with Soviet Russia, Gardner said, more money must be provided and "crash" programs ordered in turning out long-range missiles, bombers and fighters.

The "business as usual" approach must be abandoned, he said.

Gardner, who resigned recently as assistant secretary of the Air Force, told TV-radio interviewers that he quit because of "an honest difference of opinion" about the amount of money provided for research and development.

He said he considered the funds "inadequate," that the organization for developing the ballistics missile needed revamping and that the United States was not making enough progress under current policies.

Describing the organization for handling the ballistics missile as "confused and inadequate," Gardner suggested that Congress establish by law an assistant secretary of defense to co-ordinate the program. He said this missile czar should have control of the funds appropriated in that field.

This goes further than Secretary of Defense Wilson's plan to appoint an assistant to handle all the missile programs of the various services.

Gardner commented that Wilson's plan is "certainly intended to help." But he said he thinks a ballistics missile chief is needed who is freed of normal controls which govern general defense funds. Current outlays for ballistic missiles, he said, come from aircraft funds.

His concern too, Gardner said, was for the manner in which the Army, Navy and Air Force are competing in the ballistics missiles field, for which there is only one test range.

As this problem is intensified when the missiles program gets more advanced, he said, some person of high authority will be needed to resolve the problems involved. A ballistics missile is one which is aimed and fired at a target but is not controlled while in flight.

Gardner said he believes the Russians "are ahead of us" in developing ballistics missiles and are closing the gap in other fields. He pointed to last week's statement by Russia's deputy premier, Anastas Mikoyan, that his country can deliver nuclear explosives by means of "planes or rockets to any spot on the globe."

Burns Take Life; Gasoline Poured Over Clothing, Lit

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Iowa (AP)—Abe Leibovitz, 53, Council Bluffs carpenter, died in a hospital Sunday of burns suffered when his gasoline-soaked clothing caught fire Friday.

Leibovitz suffered second and third degree burns when he apparently ignited gasoline which had been poured over his clothing. He was found with his clothing ablaze in the yard at the rear of his home.

Leibovitz was at liberty under a $5,000 bond on charges growing out of a fracas with City Councilman Joe Katelman on Feb. 10. He had been charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

Both were hospitalized after a property-rights dispute during which Leibovitz wielded a pistol. Leibovitz suffered head injuries during the altercation when clubbed by Katelman's brother, Maurice.

Peterson For Big Federal Role In CD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson advocates a stronger role for the federal government in Civil Defense preparations, according to testimony made public Sunday.

Appearing before a House Appropriations subcommittee Jan. 18, Peterson said he thinks the law under which his agency operates will have to be changed "so that instead of providing that Civil Defense is primarily a responsibility of states and localities... it is either primarily the responsibility of the federal government or a joint responsibility."

The testimony was given when Peterson appeared in behalf of a $123,200,000 budget request for Civil Defense in the year beginning July 1.

Cites Example

He cited as an example the situation that would be created by a hydrogen bomb falling on Philadelphia. Such a catastrophe would involve part of three states, 11 counties and 39 cities, he said.

Peterson said Civil Defense officials believe, and the military agree, that governors should be assured National Guard units would be available for state use following an attack. He said he thinks elements of the regular Army also should be made available.

Questioning of Peterson brought out some information about the "SAGE" program being developed under strict military security to provide better warning of an enemy air attack and therefore more time to protect civilians.

One element of the complex program, named for the words "Semi-Automatic Ground Environment," was disclosed to be an expansion of existing telephone facilities.

Omaha Woman Abducted, Raped By Three Men

OMAHA (AP)—An Omaha man told police his wife reported she had been abducted and raped Saturday night.

The husband of the 24 year old woman said she had gone downtown to a movie Saturday afternoon. She parked her car in an alley.

The husband told officers that as she entered the car to go home last night a man forced his way in and told her "Not to scream or he would kill her."

The police were told the man drove out of town where she was put in an auto with two other men. The husband said she told him two of the men assaulted her, then she was driven back to near her home.

The woman was described as in a "state of shock" at a hospital Sunday.

Greenwood Student, Mother Both Attending NU Classes

When 19-year-old Jerry Leadabrand of Greenwood, Neb., started attending the University of Nebraska this fall he had company—his mother.

After more than 19 years as a housewife and mother, Mrs. Ruth Leadabrand decided she "was getting in a rut." So, she says, she decided to return to the University of Nebraska, where she received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in 1936, and earn an initial secondary education certificate so she could teach.

She and her husband, A. J. Leadabrand, have four other children—Judy, 16; Jon, 11; Jackson, 8; and James, 6. Her goal is to have them all receive a college education and she wants to help with the finances.

"Cheaper by the dozen may sound good," she says, "but it just doesn't work out!"

What does her husband, a 1934 University Ag College grad and garage operator and an implement dealer, think of her return to the classroom?

"He thinks it's fine," she says. "He's the broadminded type. Many husbands wouldn't be!"

Mrs. Leadabrand admits her family's daily routine had to be

STANTON DELAPLANE

POSTCARD

When the first tourists landed in Mexico in 1519 Montezuma sent them a calendar wheel made of solid gold. Mr. Cortez sent back a handful of glass beads.

It set a trading ratio, you might say. It did not take the Aztecs long to catch on that you could make a pretty penny selling beads for gold.

They got the idea. But they had no market.

Then along came the American tourist. Hallelujah!

"Poor Mexico!" remarked the ex-President Porfirio Diaz "so far from God, so close to the United States!"

Over on the Laredo-Mexico highway, the primitive Otomac stand around the cobbled plaza with handfuls of colored stoner. "From the mines, Senor. Amethysts, emeralds!" The tourists buy them like crazy.

So the other day I drove over to Queretaro to see how the modern bead market is faring and how they are made.

Queretaro is a pretty colonial town of lovely plazas, long siesta hours and many gem cutters.

There are opal mines nearby and every household has a gem cutter.

The central plaza is full of simple, barefoot Indian boys. About as simple and unsophisticated as possible. "Gentleman George Solitaire, the simple, barefoot Broadway ticket broker."

"Are they real?" I said. "Authentic or synthetic?"

"Authentic, Senor! Not synthetic!"

He took us through back streets "to this place where no tourists know about." To the gem-cutting shop of Eugenio Ontiveros.

It was a little hard to get in. There were four lady tourists pawing over the gem trays and Mrs. Ontiveros was lining up others in the garden. Both spoke English and more boys arrived by the minute with more tourists.

"I thought no tourists knew about this," I said.

"They have just discovered it, Senor."

After awhile we got to talk to Mr. Ontiveros. He drew out a tray of small opals unset. Others in settings. Opals still in the rock.

"What about the synthetics?" I said.

"We do an excellent business in synthetics." He drew out a tray of purple stones cut for earrings and rings. He said they were "Alejandrinos." Synthetics or a stone from Alexandria, Egypt.

"Our best seller."

"To whom?"

"To the Indians who sell along the highway. They like the color."

"And you get the synthetic material here?"

"Oh, no, sir. We buy it from Switzerland."

I bought a handful of unset opals. For I have long had an ambition to spill a bagful of something gaudy or a tablecloth and remark: "A king's ransom there!"

It seemed to me the Mexican economy had come full circle. From Indian gold for tourist beads to beads for tourist gold. Imported from Switzerland, at that.

After awhile we drove out to the Hall of Bells. Where the Emperor Maximilian was shot with authentic bullets. There were two Indian boys awaiting the tourist trade. They said they could let me have, by chance, some genuine stones. "From the mines, Senor."

They were very pretty "Alejandrinos." As pretty as ever came from Switzerland.

Keep It Voluntary

The Nebraska-Iowa pilot plan to stimulate meat consumption through voluntary assessments on producers for a consumer sales campaign is feeling the pressure of forces which think it would be better to drop the voluntary factor and substitute mandatory federal legislation.

The suggestion was made to Gov. Victor Anderson by the American Cattlemen's Association. It did not find favor with him.

One can agree with Nebraska's governor. It is better to proceed as Iowa and Nebraska are proceeding, going to test counties, endeavoring to sell the plan on its apparent merits and winning, if possible, grass roots support of it. Certainly if the interesting proposal wins popular support and in its pilot test shows practical results it will expand on its own proven merits.

It seems too hasty to run to Congress for a mandate before the case is proven. And it seems especially appropriate at this time for agriculture to be permitted to make creative efforts in the form of self-help. Meat producers will be far more satisfied with contribution of their own than brings substantial relief.

In Right Direction

Busy readers of Nebraska newspapers may not have the time to reflect upon the decision by the Nebraska State Board of Control to abolish the position of penologist at the Nebraska Penitentiary and Men's Reformatory. The fact is, Penologist B. B. Albert has made whatever contribution to prison methods in this state within his reach. To keep him on the payroll would be to toss money to the birds unnecessarily.

He was brought here by the Board of Control at a time when the Penitentiary, particularly, was beset with unrest and disturbances. Those disturbances came to a climax while Mr. Albert was formulating a prison program which now has been put into practice. The segregation building at the Penitentiary is nearing completion. The training program there is gaining impetus every month. A classification committee, coupled with a disciplinary board, have been set up, are now functioning successfully.

So Mr. Albert's work is through; to bring him back to this state would be only to continue a $9,000-a-year job. If this is evidence that the Board is re-examining some of the costly jobs created under it in the past year, it is about the best news Nebraska taxpayers could receive. Institutional costs have been hiked drastically since 1954, and not the least in that increase has been the creation of numbers of highly-paid jobs. Fall in Nebraska farm income means spiraling of salaries in some of the state agencies, particularly the Board of Control, must end.

Bids And Better Prices

City Councilman Rees Wilkinson made two proposals of merit at last Monday's meeting of the City Council.

In one case, Wilkinson was successful in convincing his colleagues of the value of taking sealed bids to sell property rather than by the auction method. This has been a constant goal of Wilkinson's in an effort to get more out of property sold by the city.

In this particular case, the land is so situated and of such a size that it is of little value to many people. With an auction, chances are that only one bidder would be present and could pick up the property for only a token bid. With sealed bids, however, a suitable amount must be bid or the city can reject all bids.

It seems only sensible that the city use the sealed bids method in most cases. When interest in a parcel of land is widespread and its uses are many an auction may be the best procedure, but this is seldom the case when the city disposes of any of its property. Only infrequently does the city sell any land that is of value to anyone other than the adjoining property owner.

The second proposal by Wilkinson was in the form of an ordinance. The measure calls for a mandatory lay-over of one week of any legislation which fails to receive a majority vote of the Council.

Thus, if a Council member is absent and the six members present split three to three on a measure, the matter automatically comes before the group the following week for another vote. In addition to assuring parties of a conclusive vote on something of interest to them, this ordinance should tend to cut down on unnecessary delays.

Frequently, if a Council member is absent, no vote on certain subjects will be taken if it is believed that a split decision might be rendered. Under present laws, if an issue lost by a split three to three decision, the matter would not come up again unless a Council member who voted against the proposal moved for re-consideration at the next meeting. Thus, issues could be lost before the Council without a majority vote on either side.

In view of this, some subjects are laid over when a member of the Council is to be absent. Many times, if a vote were taken on such subjects a majority would be found on one side and the delay would be unnecessary.

The Musical Note

The Bell telephone laboratories reveal that the days of the telephone bell are numbered. The summons to talk in the future will probably come in the form of a musical note, a soft throaty tone suggestive of a clarinet.

That may be all right. Certainly there have been times when the jangling telephone bell unnerved people. And we suppose that had the telephone started out in the beginning giving forth a flute like call we would want to keep it that way. But it doesn't seem that setting science to the task of combating the electric bell is really top drawer work when the nation is suffering from a shortage of scientists working on subjects of stark survival.

There is one thing to be said of the telephone bell. It's neutral. The call may be from a lover about to propose or a banker about to foreclose. But the bell treats them exactly alike. There is something coldly fair about it. On the other hand the soft musical note hints that all calls will be full of sweetness and light, which just isn't so. A flute-like summons is no way to break the news to the listener that his house is on fire. We'll take the bell.

It's Not New

Sen. Goldwater of Arizona has installed an electronic telephone answering instrument in his Washington office. Whether day or night if one of his constituents calls the machine gives him a cheery greeting and then stands by to record any statement the constituent has to make.

It can be said of the device that the senator will be able to get his rest and his constituents will find no time barrier against indulging their impulses.

While some do not take kindly to attempting a conversation with a gadget that can't be talked back to and treats everything impersonally they are to be reminded that there are lots of senators who have been treating the home folks and their concerns the same way without the electronic facility.

Disturbing News Is Kept From Ike

WASHINGTON — Ever since Ike's illness, the White House staff has been careful about bringing disturbing news to the President, which was why he was not told at first that the French walked out of the United Nations Assembly or about the full failure at Geneva. Gradually this ban has been relaxed.

However, there is still one type of news which is usually kept away from Eisenhower—the wisecracks of Harry Truman.

Ike has developed such a peeve against Truman that any word of Truman's speeches or criticism seems to disturb his pulse more than anything else. And since the doctors don't want Ike's blood pressure to go up, Harry Truman can say anything at all and Ike won't know about it.

The presidential peevishness explains why Ike has never invited Truman around to the White House as Truman did Herbert Hoover. Though the two ex-presidents disagree emphatically, they have been quite friendly, and Hoover even helped raise money for the Truman library. Truman appointed Hoover to study European food problems after the war, and also appointed him as co-chairman of the Committee on Government Reorganization.

Truman shed some light on the start of Ike's peeve in the latest installment of his book in which he tells how he wrote Eisenhower a letter in early 1952 saying: "Partisan politics should stop at the boundaries of the United States. I'm extremely sorry that you have allowed a bunch of screech-balls to come between us."

Later, when President-elect Eisenhower drove up to the White House to take President Truman to the Capitol for the inauguration, Ike did not get out of the car to come in and greet the outgoing president, as is customary. Truman never forgot this and still remarks on it.

Economic Program Needed For Asia

WASHINGTON — At the highest levels of government an often anguished debate has been going on in strictest privacy over the problem of Southeast Asia and the challenge of Communist economic penetration in that area.

One faction would like to formulate a bold new plan which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles could unveil on his forthcoming trip to 10 Asian nations. This might well be the projection of an economic development plan above and beyond the present patchwork of limited assistance such as defense support and technical cooperation.

The secretary must not go to Asia, this group is strongly convinced, with mere vague words and promises of good will.

But on the other side of the table are those who argue a wait-and-see attitude.

It is one of the ironies of this moment, when the struggle between the free and communist systems has been intensified, that the head of the International Cooperation Administration should be a Cincinnati lawyer with a strong isolationist background. The ICA chief, John B. Hollister, has made it clear that he believes assistance is for the support of military forces fighting on America's side and he takes a budget-balancer's view of the savings that can be achieved whenever aid can be cut back.

It is, however, aid for economic development that is of immediate

IKE'S "ACTIVITY"

The indefatigable Mae Craig, correspondent of the Portland, Me., Express, who barges in where her male colleagues fear to tread, put her finger on the point which concerned a lot of people during the full-dress televised medical report on President Eisenhower's health.

"Dr. White," she said, "the President has not been bearing the full load of the presidency, so how can you now base a decision on that, on the last few weeks?"

"During the last five weeks," replied Dr. White, "I would like to have Mr. Hagerty speak of that."

"Well, all I can refer you to is the schedule for the last five weeks," replied Hagerty, "and if they are not full working schedules of the President, I don't know what is, with the exception of dinners and social events."

However, the unfortunate fact is that like Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Democrat, who has gone back to Texas to rest his heart after the gas debate, Mr. Eisenhower's schedule has been nowhere near as vigorous as it was before his illness, and his pre-illness schedule was somewhat lighter than Truman's. The lists of the callers are on file in the White House, and all you have to do is look at them to see the difference.

So far, newsmen and political critics have shied away from making any comparison. However, there have been some mild but growing complaints from the diplomatic corps where 12 ambassadors were kept waiting for weeks without a chance to present their credentials, and still have not had that opportunity.

The 12 were finally given a White House luncheon on Feb. 8 to quiet the diplomatic tumbings, but some of the envoys are still in doubt as to whether they are properly accredited to the United States.

concern both to America's allies and to the uncommitted countries of Asia. They must demonstrate that they can progress as modern nations.

The spur is provided by the propaganda claims out of Peking representing the transformation of the old China into a new and powerful industrial state.

For purposes of the debate going on, no better example of the American dilemma could be found than Thailand. With American sanction, Thailand invited the powers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization to hold maneuvers at Bangkok, thereby demonstrating their military might on the threshold of Communist China.

The Thai government may also have been motivated by a desire to show loyalty to SEATO at a time when the Thai delegation headed by Thap Chotinuitch, member of parliament, is in Peking at the invitation of Red China.

Resourceful, charming and pliant, the Thais have done very well out of their alliance with the United States. They are receiving this year $45,000,000 in aid, most of it under the heading of defense support, which means everything from highways to soldiers' uniforms. Thailand has a population of 18,000,000 and the amount it is getting per capita is more than any other Asian country except as in South Vietnam and Korea where war rehabilitation is involved.

'Double Or Quit' Shakes A Nation

NEW YORK (INS) — People ... Places ... Things ...

Mary Margaret Truman's Story, beginning in the March Good Housekeeping, is as modest and unassuming and fine as the girl herself.

Not many persons in our time could write:

"I had a new powder-blue suit, which I fancied myself in, and all black accessories," she recalls in describing the day she christened the "Missouri," the greatest battleship in christendom. "Over this I had to wear my old fur coat — I think it was muskrat. The curse was taken off it by the arrival of two enormous orchids, which practically covered my chest ... I can take orchids or leave them (honestly I like violets better), but those were the funniest said."

Or, speaking of a man known for his terrible temper and his threats of bodily harm on people like music critics:

"My father was convinced I could do no wrong ... but while he was never able to bring himself to strike me, he could crush me with a sort of hurt look he has. I would have infinitely preferred a spanking to this look, and I still would."

This is first-rate, highly-readable, immensely-entertaining current history.

You think there's too much emotion exhibited on our TV guessing games? If so, take a Berlitz course in Italian, buy a super-super "Sky Chief" rotating antenna mounted on top of a 200,000 foot tower and tune in Rome's leading television program, "Double or Quit." You haven't seen contestants sweat until you've seen "Double or Quit."

It shakes the nation. The breathtaking sum of 5,000,000 lire (more than $8,000) is the jackpot prize which no contestant has attained as yet. Italians apparently seldom have the opportunity to choose the opera category — if there is one — on "Double or Quit." But whatever they choose or is given to them, they're inclined to blow their stacks if they blow the question.

Last Saturday night a young cabaret dancer named Bruno Dossena listened to the final question flung him, wheeled in indignation and cried, "That's far, far, too difficult!" He had been asked to name a certain village in French West Africa. He is appealing. The precedent has been set. A Roman businessman named Remo Cappelli, an expert on old coins, set the stage for such things. When asked a question that stumped him he bellowed, "That cannot be answered!" He convinced the producers, too, and was given another whack at it.

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

met them with happy smiles. They had come to help celebrate this day when the Child would be presented in the Temple.

They all went into the Temple together, and stopped to buy the sacrifice they would offer to God. Rich people would buy a one-year-old lamb to offer God, but Joseph's money-pouch was far from full, and so he decided to buy two young pigeons instead.

Mary was walking a few steps behind Joseph, holding the sleeping Jesus in her arms. Suddenly a dark, lean shadow fell across the face of the mother and Child. From behind a long line of marble pillars an old man tottered into their path.

"What does he want?" whispered Anna.

But Cousin Zachary, the priest, who knew his way about the Temple, smiled calmly, and whispered back:

"Do not be afraid. His name is Simeon. He will not hurt you. He is a good man," said Zachary, "who loves God. He tells everybody that he once had a special vision. An angel promised him that before he died he would see the Savior."

Old Simeon, tall and ragged, came closer and closer toward Mary and Joseph and the Child. The others stopped as Simeon stared at the Baby in Mary's arms.

Then swiftly, violently, the old man raised his arms to heaven and tears ran down his cheeks. "At last!" he cried. "At last! I have seen the Messiah!" And in his strange, gnarled voice he thanked God.

From all over the Temple people heard him, and gathered round. They all knew the story of Simeon's visit from the angel. "This Child will be the downfall of many people," he gasped, "but to many He will bring new life. He is set for the resurrection of Israel."

He raised his bony right hand, and with his thin twisted finger he pointed crookedly at Mary's heart.

"A sword shall pierce your soul!" said Simeon huskily. "Out of many hearts thoughts shall be revealed."

And then, before anyone could speak, there came a new voice—the voice of an old, wizened, wrinkled woman, who stepped from the shadows like a spirit of the past.

"Her name is Anna, like yours," said Zachary to Mary's mother. "She is unbelievably old, even older than Simeon." Anna stood in front of Mary, and looked down into the face of the sleeping Child.

"Here, indeed, is the deliverer of the people!" she cried. "Here is the Messiah—the Savior!"

The crowd stared at Mary and her Child, and at Anna and Simeon. And then they all turned and walked away, shaking their heads.

"Poor old Simeon," they said, "he is so old he has lost his mind. And Anna too. Imagine thinking that tiny Baby from the country could be the Savior!"

And so Mary and Joseph offered their pigeons, and Mary offered her Son to God in the Temple, and went back again to Bethlehem, and no one—except old Anna and old Simeon—noticed them at all.

The Temple was full of people that day who had come there especially to pray to God, and yet they did not see Him when He was there in person, in Mary's arms. They did not know that God can be found sometimes in the smallest things. And they did not believe that God Himself could ever be born as a baby, just to save the world.

Farmers' Organization

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This grain that the government has stored in its bins, is sometimes referred to as a reserve that may come in handy if we happen to have a cycle of dry years, and the farmers would need it back for feeding purposes.

That sounds logical enough, but even with bountiful crops and good prices for the past twenty years, your experiences have caught up with your income.

If we have those dry years, farm income will stop, expenses will continue to be able to buy it back. So far as the farmer is concerned he might as well buy it from Canada, South America or some other country. He might even buy it cheaper, unless Uncle Sam lost money on it.

A reserve is merchandise that you have bought, or acquired by production, which is paid for, but you still have it.

We can't eat your cake and keep it too, and we ate your cake when Uncle Sam paid for the grain. If farmers had bins on their farms and kept a good healthy reserve in them, he not only could feed out of them without having to get a permit, but you could sell out of it too. A little cash might come in handy under such conditions.

I think this clearly shows the difference between organized farming and government controlled farming.

All we have to do is ask for it if we want it.

If the majority of farmers would write to Washington, D. C., asking for a plan that would organize them, it would carry a lot of weight. And you could say you tried.

ARTHUR BARKER

The Little People

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: After listening to Nixon extolling the virtues of this administration to the New York Republicans, I am moved to write my first article to a letter column. I hope many other farmers were listening and noted that Mr. Nixon failed to mention the present plight of agriculture. His own words approve the disinterest of the present administration in agriculture and small people of our country.

If any farmer can condone the attitude of this Big Business administration let him vote for a Republican in 1956 and try to endure his choice for another four years. Many of them will be foreclosed before 1960.

R. L. GREEN

Influence Funds?

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The World Herald, noting that Bernard Boyle, Democratic National Committee member, commented upon the fact that the Republican State Committee of Nebraska received $250,000 from the Superior Gas Co., submitted that the people of Nebraska, were not interested in the profits of the gas company being large, but that their interest was for reasonable gas rates.

This comment, made in a speech by Mr. Boyle, caused The Herald to resort to the sophistry of the fallacy of the kettle calling the pot black.

Did the Herald think that the public were so dumb that it could not see the subterfuge? The fact that Senator Kerr supplied money to his campaign manager is no parallel to the circumstances inspiring current discussion.

Senator Kerr as a candidate for president had a legitimate right to finance his campaign; is that to be an excuse or an argument in favor of using campaign funds to attempt to help senators supporting a selfish bill of the gas companies?

The purpose of the giving is the germane proposition. A candidate for office has the right under the law and justice to accept funds or spend funds for his election in the primaries or other elections. Because of this can one justify the donation or giving of money to influence representatives to vote for legislation favorable to the corporations, and against the people whom they represent?

As we have said the germane consideration is the just and equitable purpose for which the donation is given.

When a comparison is drawn between the two purposes of the contribution one can clearly observe the difference. A contribution made for and in behalf of the people, and one made in behalf of the selfish interest of corporations can be easily differentiated. Regardless of the reputation of the contributor if he is in the right his offer and contribution can be commended, personality can be ignored.

It can be justly contended, that if the devil would come into Nebraska and contribute to the defeat of the Harris Gas Bill it would be an act for which he should be commended.

GEORGE J. MARSHALL

Letter From Shuman

Seward, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Have just read your editorial on Allen B. Kline's address in Omaha. It is wonderful for you to stand up for the farmers and to credit us with some intelligence, in these times when we are being treated like a bunch of children who don't know what's good for them. Farmers have not forgotten the Hoover days and don't want them repeated.

I have at hand a letter from Mr. Charles B. Shuman, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in which he answers a letter of mine concerning the fact that under the present administration every business is prospering but the farmer.

Here is a portion of his letter: "While it may give comfort to the farmers to justify the subsidy payments made to agriculture by comparing them to the subsidies paid to business and industry, the fact remains that the subsidy programs have harmed rather than helped farmers. If our motive was only revenge, we would continue to go to the government for subsidies. However, since our objective is to increase farm income, we must realize that the government price support programs have failed to maintain farm income. Therefore, an entirely new approach is indicated. The soil bank plan which the American Farm Bureau Federation has supported for the last three years does offer some possibility of getting away from the government programs that have proven a failure."

It is plain Mr. Shuman is so strongly Republican and so misled by the administration's propaganda that he knows nothing about the true farm picture.

He seems unable to remember the days when he and Mr. Kline both started farming just before the big depression. The Farm Journal, January, 1955, quotes Mr. Kline as saying, "We farmers are going to make any money, but we might as well have some fun." The Journal says Kline has had a vigorous career in which he became noted for axing the Brannan Plan, resisting price controls and maneuvering the 1948 and 1954 flexible price support bills through Congress.

The Journal says Mr. Shuman and family rode around in an old cream-colored car they called the "cream can."

I think these two have done as much to double-cross the farmer as Ike and Benson.

Rabbits Help Fight Crop Plant Diseases

Two University of Nebraska scientists are using the blood of living rabbits in research against virus diseases of crop plants.

The new kind of "blood bank" provides a source of anti-sera (rabbit blood serum containing antibodies).

This enables plant pathologists to determine the presence in young plants of viruses like barley-stripe mosaic, which cause heavy losses to growers of small grains.

Dr. Ellen Moorhead, a serologist, and Myron Brakke, a biochemist, developed the supply of antibodies by injecting the rabbits with the juice of diseased plants.

The reaction of the animals is similar to that of humans injected with diphtheria toxin-antitoxin or smallpox vaccine.

The rabbits don't get the disease, but the serum portion of their blood builds up antibodies specific for the virus injected.

Blood is drawn periodically from the injected rabbits for use in the field or laboratory for tests of cereal viruses.

Faster Identification
Once a stock of antisera has been prepared, the scientists have a new, faster method of virus-disease identification.

It will help speed up the breeding of virus-resistant plants by enabling breeders to rid their stocks of infected material without waiting for the plants to mature.

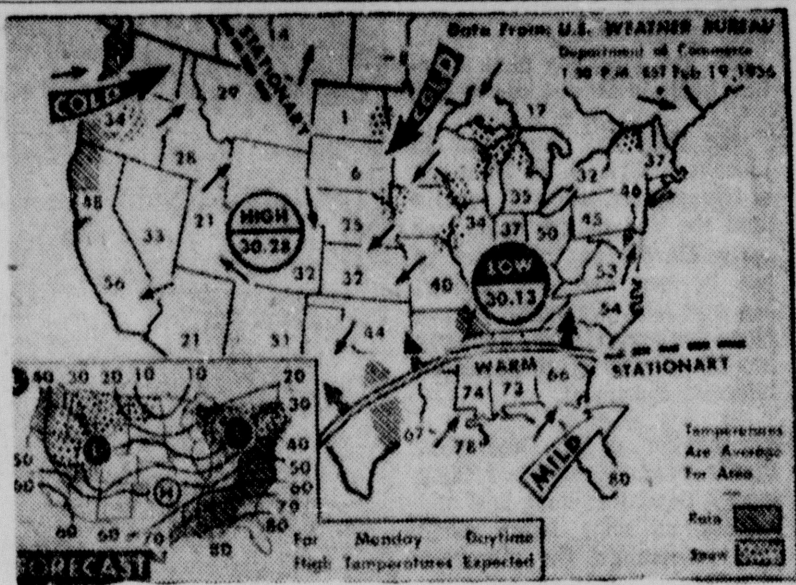

The "blood bank" also is expected to aid in the closer study of plant viruses, their sources, how they are spread and their relationships to each other.

Rabbits at the Agricultural Experiment Station now contain antisera of purified preparations of barley-stripe mosaic and bromo mosaic viruses and several of their strains.

The "living blood bank" also contains antisera of the viruses of Potato X and tobacco mosaic.

Those two diseases have no connection with cereal-crop viruses, but they make useful laboratory tools because of their common characteristics and distinct reactions in the test tube.

Dewey Sigler, chairman of the board of trustees, announced that $75,000 of the $103,000 cost of building the church has been raised so far. The church has 375 members.

A memorial service also was held, followed by an open house.

The Rev. Mr. Bollinger's father, the Rev. Charles Bollinger, a Methodist minister at Rochester, N. Y., was a special guest at the dedication.

The building project began about six years ago.

CPPD Plans Improvements For Hydro Plant At Spencer

COLUMBUS, Neb. — Major repairs and improvements at the Spencer hydro plant are planned for early this summer.

W. P. Venable, Consumers Public Power District superintendent of power supply, said the four-month project will require construction of a diversion dam.

Consumers will accept bids covering improvements to the spillway and tailrace and bids for rock replacement, stock piling and rock recovery until March 16.

Plans, specifications and instructions to bidders are available at Venable's office here.

It will be necessary to divert the river before eroded places on the dike can be cleaned, backfilled and reinforced, Venable said.

Additional river bed improvements below the spillway and tailrace call for construction of four concrete walls.

May Start In June

Work on the Niobrara plant near Spencer, Neb., probably won't start until June, when the water level is expected to be low enough for diversion, Venable said.

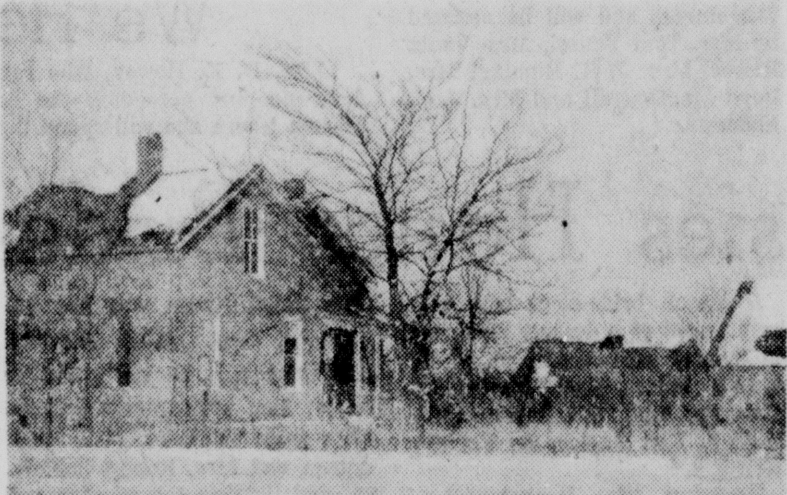

The Spencer hydro plant will require about 2,300 cubic yards of excavation. Grouted-in rock and reinforced concrete will total around 1,240 cubic yards, Venable said, and some 1,740 cubic yards of rock will be needed for the project.

More Farm Homes, Buildings Empty

This Gage County farm home with its adjoining buildings has been added to the growing list of abandoned farm homes. A newly released agricultural census shows the number of farms in Gage County decreased from 2,524 in 1950 to 2,274 in 1954. The change also is reflected in the average size of farms, as some rural people move to cities or to larger farms. The number of Gage County farms containing 500 to 999 acres increased from 60 to 74 in the four-year period. (Star Staff Photo.)

Omaha Police Investigate Holdup, Several Burglaries

OMAHA (AP) — One holdup and an assortment of burglaries were reported to Omaha police over the week end.

The holdup victim was John Zaidina, who said he was walking near his home when two men got out of a car, produced a gun and took his billfold containing $35.

An undetermined amount of whisky was taken from the Corby Bar on North 16th Street early Sunday. Three men were arrested for investigation in the case.

A taxi driver told police he heard glass break while he sat at a call stand. A few minutes later, as he was driving down 16th Street, he saw a man run from in front of the bar and get into a car. He radioed his station and police were notified.

Soon after, men driving two cars without lights were arrested by police and a third was picked up at his home.

The cab driver told officers one of the autos looked like the car in which the man fled the scene. Two men were arrested soon after glass was broken at the H and K Specialty Co. A bunch of brooms was taken.

A nearby resident who had heard the window glass break took down the license number of a fleeing car. The men were arrested soon after and booked for investigation.

Three women reported their purses were stolen from a dressing room at the Omaha Community Playhouse between 11 p.m. and midnight Saturday.

Diane Farwell reported loss of $5, Sylvia Cubins $95 and Anita Reznicek $8.00.

Wedding On Sunday

MRS. DUANE MAKI

Pink and white blossoms, arranged in pedestal baskets, appointed the chancel of the Havelock Christian Church for the wedding of Miss Charlene Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Morgan, and A-2c Duane L. Maki, son of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Harstad of Superior, Wis., which took place at a 4 o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 19. The lines were read by the Rev. Merlin Dana, and the wedding music was played by Miss Mary Walters.

Mrs. Patrick Calligan of Chicago, as her sister's matron of honor; and the maid of honor, Miss Judy Harstad of Superior, Wis., sister of the bridegroom, wore alike, ballerina-length frocks of sheer blue net over matching taffeta. The pink and white carnations that fashioned their colonial bouquets were repeated in their hair bandeaux.

A-2c Clifford Harris served Airman Maki as best man, and A-2c Richard McAnern seated the guests.

The bride appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace and net over satin. The strapless bodice, patterned with lace, had a snugly fitted mid-riff of crushed net beneath which the bouffant skirt was fashioned of alternate ruffles of lace and net from waist to ballerina hem line. She completed her ensemble with a long-sleeved bolero jacket of lace, and her tiered, elbow-length veil was held in place with a shell of pleated tulle and lace, dotted with pearls. Her cascade bouquet was of red roses and white carnations.

Luncheon For Sorosis

Mrs. John Selleck will be hostess to the members of Sorosis next Tuesday afternoon at a 1 o'clock luncheon to be held at the University Club. In charge of the program will be Mrs. Harold Hansen.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors.

A-2c Maki and his bride will reside at 4312 Touzalin.

Millard Lefler Has Mardi Gras

Ninth graders at Millard Lefler had a gay time Friday night when they met at the school for a Mardi Gras party sponsored by the PTA. Games and dancing kept the classmates busy from 7:30 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock after which refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Committee members in charge of arrangements included (standing, from the left) Judy Zabina, Helen Rasmussen, Charla Bates, Kay Johnstone, Susie Crabbe and Bill Power.

Around Town

THE CURRENT week won't be a whirlwind, socially speaking, unless something exciting comes along within its seven days—It is to be a pleasant week, however, with just enough activity of a varied nature to keep the town from becoming dull. In the beginning there is the Fifty Fifty Club dinner dance at Hotel Lincoln on Tuesday evening—and at the end there are the Holiday Club dinner dance and the Faculty Dancing Club party—both on Saturday evening.

One, the Holiday Club, will be at Hotel Cornhusker, while the Faculty Dancing Club members will dine and dance at the Student Union.

AND since we began with the late week affairs we may as well tell you now that serving

La Sertoma Plans Supper

The members of La Sertoma will entertain at a pot-luck supper next Wednesday evening when their guests will be their husbands. The 6:30 o'clock supper will be held at the Lincoln B. PW club rooms, 130 So. 11th, and will be followed by an informal evening of cards.

Mrs. Kenneth Brown is chairman of the committee on arrangements and will be assisted by Mrs. Tom Yaussi, Mrs. Vaulx Rissler, Mrs. J. K. Binning, Mrs. Boyd MacDougall and Mrs. Jack Andrews.

on the committee for the Faculty Dancing Club party will be Mr. and Mrs. C. Bertrand Schultz, chairmen; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Jackson, Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Newell, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Weldon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Spiker, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meade, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Farley and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Williams.

IN between now and then there will be homecomers—Mrs. C. C. Kimball, for instance, who will return on Tuesday from Idaho Springs, Colo., where she has been visiting her father, Charles Dedrick.

THE latest word on Mrs. Stanley Zemer and Mrs. Oliver Everett, who hid themselves off to the west coast about holiday time—is that they will be home in time for spring—probably around April 1.

You might like to know, also, that Dr. Stanley Zemer Jr., is engaged in the practice of internal medicine in Beverly Hills, and that he and his family are residing in Van Nuys, Calif.

A WINTER holiday is barely underway for Mr. and Mrs. George Joy, who, at the moment are in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where they are the guests of Mrs. Joy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Joy plan to return home in about three weeks.

ON the February guest list in Lincoln is Mrs. C. H. Pomeroy of Minneapolis, who will remain until the end of the month, or early March, as the guest of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walton C. Ferris. Since her arrival Mrs. Pomeroy has been honored at numerous informal courtesies.

AND mention of Mr. and Mrs. Ferris reminds us that they were a Sunday evening host and hostess at their home when they entertained the members of a Sunday Night Supper Club.

NEXT week-end bids fair to be a busy one for Miss Barbara Dillman whose marriage to Howard Jensen will be solemnized on March 10.

Next Saturday Miss Dillman will be honored guest at a luncheon when Mrs. L. F. Klein is hostess. The soon-to-be-bride will be presented with a hostess gift.

And on Saturday evening Miss Dillman and her fiancé will share honors at a dinner for which Mrs. Orin Stepanek will be hostess at her home when she entertains a guest sixsome.

We Hear That

Mrs. D. E. Howey, who returned from a seven months tour of Australia just preceding the holidays, left the past week-end for Florida where she will spend the remainder of the winter.

Courtesies Honor Brides-To-Be

Camp Fire Girls Entertain

A social event of sub-deb significance in Lincoln on Sunday afternoon was the annual tea which involved more than 100 Camp Fire Girls in the city. Hostesses for the tea were junior high school Camp Fire Girls who have attained the lofty rank of Torchbearers, and their guests were girls who hold the Fire-makers rank and who will become Torchbearers next year.

In charge of arrangements were members of the Camp Fire Girls committee of awards, of which Mrs. H. E. Orput is chairman.

MRS. STEVEN M. PEDERSON

Had Church Ceremony

At a double ring ceremony which was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 19, Miss Helen Lomax, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Leslie Lomax of Merna, became the bride of Steven M. Pederson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Pederson of Berwyn. White gladioli arranged in pedestal baskets trimmed with bows of deep pink taffeta and white candles burning in branched candelabra, appointed the chancel of the First Methodist Church at Broken Bow for the 2 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. A. Monkman, and Mrs. James Daley of Anselmo, organist, played the wedding music. Mrs. Daley also accompanied Allen Schmid of Dawson, the vocal soloist.

Wearing alike frocks of cameo pink taffeta were Mrs. Jimmie G. Peterson of Stanford, Calif., who was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Jean Barrett of Columbus. Fashioned with low, rounded necklines and cap sleeves, the bodices were snugly fitted to the hips and the skirts flared into waltz-length fullness. Their head bandeaux were of frock-toned taffeta, and they carried cascades of pink carnations. Lighting the candles were Miss Janet Quinn of Hebron and Miss Virginia Laun of Omaha.

Russell Briggs of Broken Bow served as best man, and the ushers were Sterling Olson of Lincoln, Jimmie G. Peterson, Stanford, Calif., and Ralph Meston, Broken Bow. Ringbearers were Steven Peterson, nephew of the bride, and Steven Meston, the bridegroom's nephew.

The bride's gown of white delustered satin was designed in the princess mode. Tiny pearls edged the rounded decolletage of the bodice, and the sleeves were long and tapered. The danseuse-length skirt was shirred into extreme fullness, and her veil of illusion was held to the head by a coronet of sequined bows and pearls. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a single white orchid.

A reception for 300 guests was held in the parlors of the church. For their wedding trip to eastern states, after which the couple will reside at 3701 Garfield, Mrs. Pederson wore a tailored suit and topper in tones of brown and avocado green.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and is a member of PEO. Mr. Pederson will graduate in June from the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture where he is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and president of the Block and Bride Club.

Birthday Honored

In celebration of her sixth birthday anniversary Mary Margaret Eno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Del Eno, entertained 22 of her Sheridan School classmates at her home between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. ## College View PTA Program

A Founders Day program will highlight the monthly meeting of College View PTA next Tuesday afternoon when the members will meet at 1:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Youth leaders in the school will be honored, and a talk on "Special Services for the Exceptional Child in the Lincoln schools," will be given by Julius Humann, director of guidance in the city schools. Miss Esther Eisenbarth also will be a guest speaker.

Justice Dept. Aid In 'Influence' Probe Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) said Sunday he would expect the Justice Department's "fullest cooperation" with a Senate Elections Subcommittee investigation of any improper attempts by "selfish interests" to influence federal elections and legislation.

Gore, the subcommittee chairman, told newsmen he thought such co-operation could be expected "especially in view of President Eisenhower's statements" in a message vetoing the controversial bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal regulation.

In vetoing the bill Friday, Eisenhower said he was in accord with its basic provisions, but could not approve it before Congress and the Justice Department had fully investigated what he called "highly questionable activities" by a very small segment of the industry seeking to further its own interests.

Since the Senate passed the bill Feb. 6 by a 53-38 vote, a special bipartisan Senate committee and a Federal Grand Jury here have been investigating a $2,500 campaign contribution offered Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during the debate on the legislation.

Case, who disclosed the money offer in a Senate speech Feb. 3, said he had refused to take it and had decided to vote against the bill, which he did.

Beyond Case Incident

The Elections Subcommittee headed by Gore has announced plans for an investigation going far beyond the Case incident.

Gore has called a closed meeting of the three-member subcommittee for Monday to present a proposed budget to finance the inquiry. He also may be ready then to recommend a chief counsel.

While he went ahead with his plans, approved unanimously by the subcommittee of two Democrats and one Republican, signs developed that efforts may be made to divert the investigative job to some other group—possibly a new bipartisan committee.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California said that while "a full and complete investigation" will be made, it has not been decided definitely who will make it.

Different Viewpoint?

"Until the Senate itself determines what procedure shall be followed," he said, "I don't think any three-man subcommittee can take jurisdiction if the Senate itself has a different viewpoint."

The Senate set up a special four-member bipartisan committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga.) to determine whether an improper attempt had been made to influence Case's vote on the gas bill, and Knowland said it may want to create a larger, bipartisan committee to conduct a broader investigation. On a bipartisan committee, there is an equal number of Republicans and Democrats.

George has called a meeting of his special committee for Monday, saying it would meet in closed session to go over some "documentary evidence" and decide whether to call one or two more witnesses before closing its probe. He said he hoped to file a report on findings late in the week.

Neff Testimony

John M. Neff, Lexington, Neb., lawyer-lobbyist for the Superior Oil Co. of Los Angeles, Calif., told the special committee that he offered the $2,500 for Case's re-election campaign after inquiring about the senator's views on the gas bill.

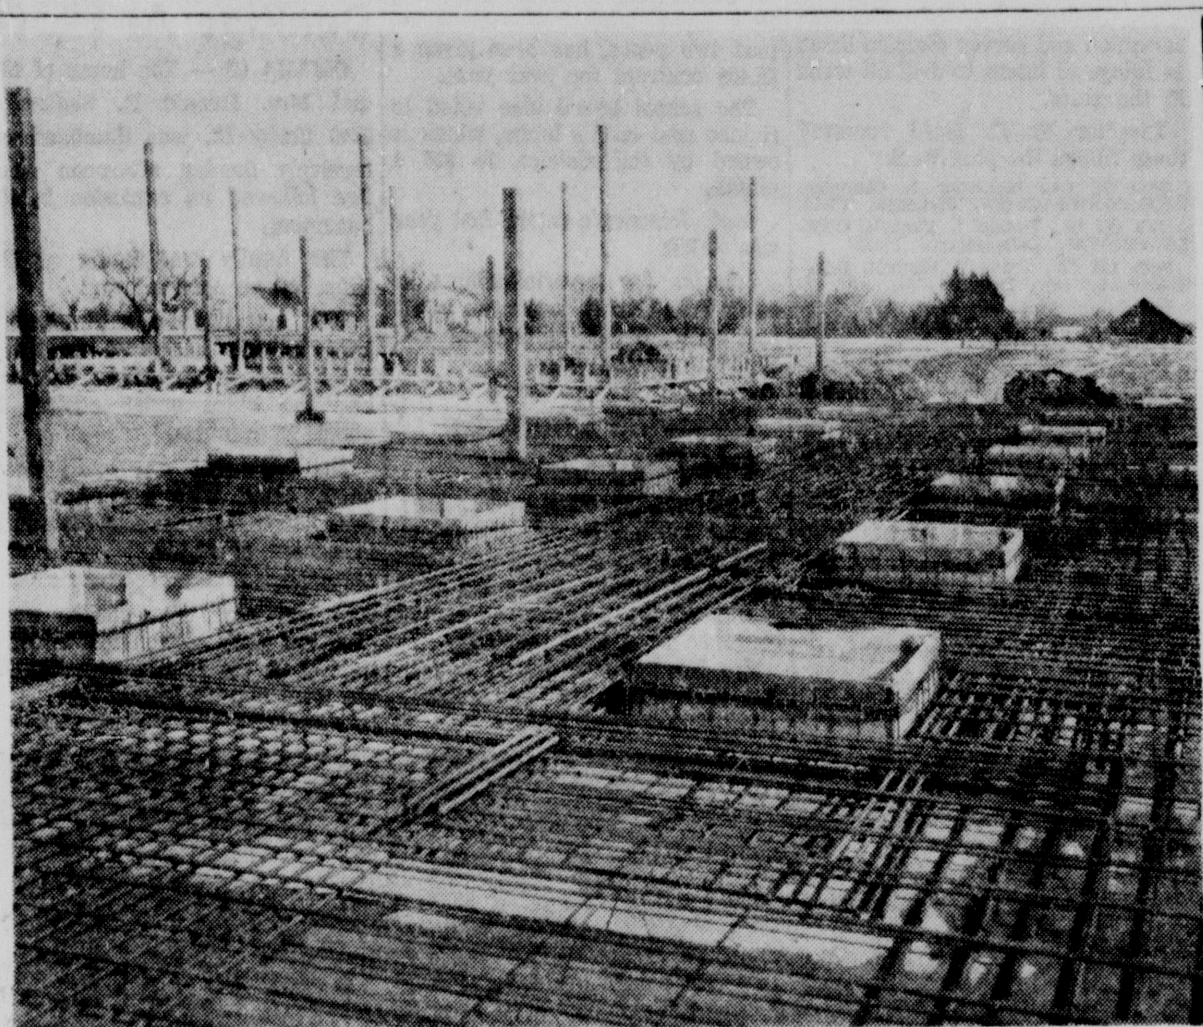

Neff said he got the money from Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., another lawyer for Superior. Patman testified the $2,500 came from "personal funds" of Howard B. Keck, president of the oil and gas producing company. Both Neff and Patman swore "no strings" were attached to the contribution.

Gore said he expected the special committee "to do a good job and make a satisfactory report on the Case incident, which was the limit of its jurisdiction."

"But," he added, "that doesn't mean at all that the same witnesses may not be questioned as to their other activities."

He was asked if his subcommittee would look into the $2,500 that Neff also contributed last October to the Nebraska Republican Committee, as the Federal Grand Jury here reportedly plans to do when it reconvenes Monday.

"The committee will take that under advisement," Gore replied. While he has announced no specific plans, indications were that the subcommittee would start its investigation by inquiring into "pressures" on Congress for and against the gas bill.

New Construction Method Used For Beatrice Schools

The "lift-slab" method of construction is being used for the first time in Nebraska for four new grade schools at Beatrice. The floors are poured first and then sections of the concrete roof are poured and raised into place with jacks. At East School (above) concrete will be poured over the re-inforcing steel and then the big slabs will be raised to the top of the steel support posts. East School, slated to be finished first, is expected to be completed next fall. (Star Staff Photo.)

Seek More Room

It is the thinking of the government, he said, to move all postal trucking and distribution activities into wholesale areas where there is more room.

Downtown postal services are destined to become little more than sub-stations, Jeary said. They will be a place for mailing packages and letters and buying postage and that is about all, he said.

However, he said, the government is still not saying it will never have any use for the City Hall site.

A letter will be sent by the city, Jeary said, to the General Services Administration and Post Office Department, advising those two groups of the expected availability in the future of the City Hall site. The two agencies will be asked to contact the city, Jeary said, if they are in need for a location for any reason.

The question of use of the City Hall site results from current proposals to erect a new city-county building.

Zimmerman's New Role Is Outlined

Vernon H. Zimmerman, formerly state relations officer for the Red Cross in Nebraska, is helping to "build better understanding and co-operation between the Red Cross and the Civil Defense in the role each plays in war and disaster."

Zimmerman's role as resident liaison officer for the American Red Cross with the Federal Civil Defense Administration in Battle Creek, Mich., was outlined by Ellsworth Bunker, Red Cross president.

Bunker said the Red Cross has agreed to assist and support the FCDA at all levels in "its vitally important task of readying this nation for national emergency."

Auto Registration Certificates—All 9 Copies—Are Used, Believe It Or Not

What happens to the eight other copies of that auto registration certification on the steering wheel of your car?

The original is issued to the owner when he annually renews his car registration or obtains a new registration with his auto license plates in Lancaster County. The other eight copies are distributed thus:

Two copies are used by the State Motor Vehicle Registration Division for numerical and alphabetical files.

Similarly, both the county treasurer's office (county license bureau) and the Lincoln Police Department maintain both alphabetical and numerical files, using four more copies.

Another copy is retained by the county treasurer's office as an "auditor's copy" and the last copy is sent to the county assessor for his files and becomes the basis on which next year's auto tax statements are issued.

Dropped from the 1956 motor vehicle registration certificate is the color of the vehicle and the required signature of the owner.

Both were discarded by the last Legislature as "useless," according to Ralph Saathoff, Lancaster County license bureau chief. Cars were often repainted, sometimes at time of purchase, resulting in confusion, he explained. As to signatures, "most people never bothered to sign their certificate."

Your cold develops in 5 stages

1 SNEEZING, SNIFLES AND STUFFY NOSE

Coldene contains one of the newest, most-effective antihistamines, Methapyriene fumarate. Antihistamines are known to be exceptionally successful in attacking colds caused by allergies. Also, it is helpful in relieving sneezing and stuffiness brought on by other types of colds. In addition, Coldene uses a most effective decongestant to reduce swollen nasal membranes. This relieves that stuffed-up feeling. At the first stage, Coldene catches your cold!

2 SORE THROAT

Here two drugs in Coldene bring relief for irritated membranes and tickling sensations. Many remedies do not provide sustained relief from these miseries. In addition, a demulcent syrup soothes the raw surfaces of your throat. At the second stage, Coldene catches your cold!

3 CONSTANT COUGHING

caused by a sore or tickling throat. Coldene helps quiet nerves which produce coughing. And because it eases swallowing and reduces the tickling sensation, it helps bring relief. At stage 3, Coldene catches your cold!

4 TIGHT CHEST

occurs when irritated and inflamed bronchial membranes produce phlegm. At this stage, Coldene uses the expectorant, Ammonium chloride, to thin down and loosen the phlegm. Again—Coldene catches your cold!

5 MUSCULAR ACHES

beside their annoying pain, help create restlessness, increase nervous tension and retard slumber. The analgesic in Coldene is noted for helping to produce sustained relief from these torments. Other ingredients help provide the rest needed for normal recovery. Coldene catches your cold!

SOLD ONLY IN DRUG STORES BY REGISTERED PHARMACISTS $1.00

You can attack it at any stage with Coldene

MOST POWERFUL COLD MEDICINE YOU CAN BUY WITHOUT A DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION

The common cold is not a single, simple ailment. It is a disorder which attacks various parts of your system, bringing a variety of miseries to different parts of your body as it develops and spreads.

That's why a group of leading physicians and pharmacists have been working to combine in one medicine quick-acting ingredients known to provide relief at your cold's several stages. The result is new, powerful Coldene.

Coldene is unlike any cold-and-cough medicine ever offered over druggists' counters. For it doesn't rely on the limited powers of one or two ingredients, but unites the powers of several potent drugs... all in proper balance.

The five pictures above show not only the five stages of the common cold, but also how the many effective ingredients in Coldene attack the miseries of your cold—whatever its stage.

Coldene is a prescription-type medicine. It contains a powerful analgesic and nerve relaxant. And these ingredients together with a decongestant, an expectorant, and an antihistamine, tell you why Coldene is so potent. Most powerful cold medicine you can buy without a doctor's prescription.

Again Coldene is different! Unlike hard-coated antihistamine tablets which may take a long time to absorb, Coldene is a liquid medicine and goes to work fast. Nor do you have to wait for it to reach your stomach and be digested. For some ingredients in Coldene go to work the moment they touch your throat's membranes. And Coldene's liquid form distributes its relief-giving powers faster throughout the body.

In their early stages, pneumonia, polio, scarlet fever and other serious illnesses may simulate a cold. So, if symptoms persist, consult your doctor.

Legion Official Supports Bill, Accuses VA

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—The mid-winter conference of the Nebraska Department of the American Legion wound up Sunday with an address by National Commander J. Addington Wagner.

Wagner's address was devoted almost entirely to an explanation of a bill before the House of Representatives to expand benefits to aged and disabled war veterans. He said the bill would raise benefits to bring them in line with living costs, increase income the veteran could have and still get benefits, and write into the law a specific statement that a veteran at the age of 65 is "incapable" of employment.

Accused VA
Wagner accused the Veterans Administration of arbitrarily denying many "just claims" by veterans in need, adding: "The VA, I am convinced, is influenced by the Bureau of the Budget."

He said "the older men now need our help to secure for them a modest income security in their advancing years. The Legion will not fail them."

"Ungrateful"
"If our government can afford to send tens of billions of dollars to foreign countries, which are ungrateful and contemptuous, it surely can give needed help to veterans who have proved their loyalty to America."

Henry Dudley, national Legion adjutant of Indianapolis, told the gathering of more than 300: "Legionnaires, you don't have the power you once had."

Dudley, formerly of Lincoln, said the Legion at one time represented 30 per cent of its eligible membership, but now represents but 16 to 18 per cent.

"Free Ride"
"Too many veterans are taking a free ride on the Legion's program without shelling out the few bucks necessary for membership," he declared.

Pat O'Meara, a member of Congressman Phil Weaver's staff, discussed the proposal to transfer the Veterans Hospital in Lincoln to the Air Force.

O'Meara said "an emergency patient can be transferred from the Lincoln Air Base to the Offutt Air Base Hospital (near Omaha) in less than one half the time it would take to transfer him to the Lincoln Hospital."

John Curtiss of Lincoln, national Legion committeeman, talked on the Legion's child welfare program which he calls the "finest of its kind in the world."

Chief Justice Robert Simmons of the Nebraska Supreme Court discussed the Legion's Boys and Girls State government program.

Mrs. F. M. Andrews Sr. of Riverton, Wyo., national vice president of the Legion Auxiliary, told the women in attendance that the auxiliary's responsibility is "continued perpetuation of a free America."

restudy and revision, inspired in the non-Communist press of Vienna such headlines as:
"Kremlin Breaks With Stalin,"
"Sensational Revision of Communist Party Dogmas" and "Smashing of Stalin Idol."

Early Sunday Moscow radio began broadcastings the Friday speech of former Premier Georgi Malenkov, the faithful sycophant and protege of Stalin in his lifetime, in which he made a bristling attack on the "one-man cult." He left no doubt he was referring to Stalin as a tyrant who would stand for no appeal, whose "irrevocable, arbitrary decisions inflicted great damage to the cause of the Communist party and country."

One after the other — Mikoyan, and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov—have swung squarely in line with the new policy laid down at the start of the Congress by the party's first secretary, Nikita Khrushchev, and have echoed his professions of "collective leadership."

In setting the tune and even in supplying some new words for the theme that Russia is now ruled by a collective, committee-style leadership instead of the personal dictatorship of Stalin, 61-year-old Khrushchev has tightened his grip as the new Soviet strong man.

So sensational were some of these speeches that far-reaching alterations must be expected in Communist propaganda. The propagandists in the Communist satellites apparently feel they need re-schooling before daring to touch them, even though Mikoyan's and Malenkov's criticisms already have been published and broadcast in Moscow.

The Budapest and Bucharest radios so far have reported only that Mikoyan addressed the party meeting and have given no details of his remarks.

Volksstimme, organ of the Austrian Communist party, did not once mention the name of Stalin in a long dispatch from Moscow and an accompanying editorial today. In the middle of the dispatch, Volksstimme said: "Mikoyan made critical remarks about Soviet economists, historians, philosophers and jurists."

Communist, as well as non-Communist, observers here paid great attention to the statement of Mikoyan that Communists must intensify their efforts to cooperate with Western Socialist parties to achieve a "solid front of the working class."

Miler Wes Santee Barred 'For Life'

Expense 'Irregularities' Cited; Court Test Set

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Wes Santee, America's foremost miler and No. 1 hope for the Olympic Games, was barred from competition Sunday night by the AAU for expense irregularities totaling about $1,500.

If the suspension stands up in the courts, Santee immediately announced he would bring suit against the AAU. It means he not only won't be permitted to run in the Olympics, but never again will run in AAU competition.

The suspension is for life," said

Nebraska College Conference teams enter the last week of play this week, and the Chadron Eagles will be eyeing the results of two games with more than casual interest.

The Eagles managed a split with league-leading Hastings last week—losing the first game, 107-73, and winning the second, 76-73—and if Hastings should lose both of its remaining games the Chadron club would win the NCC title. If Hastings loses once the teams will be tied for the crown.

Chadron completed its play against the Broncos, but Hastings

Much improved Wesleyan, now tied for fifth in the conference, is the only team besides Chadron to whip the Broncos. However, Hastings will be highly favored to defeat the Plainsmen on the Broncos' floor, and also gets the favorite's position against Kearney.

Hastings has an earlier victory over the Antelopes, and is the only team that has tripped Kearney on its home floor this year.

Westman clinched the CCCC title last Friday by downing Concordia, 76-67. The teams entered the game tied for first place, but the Iowans won handily when the chips were down.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

It would have been worth the price of admission to see Hank Greenberg's face when he learned Chico Carresquel wanted a "bonus" for reporting in good physical shape.

Whatever words Hank uttered at the moment were justified. Chico's demand rates as one of more ridiculous requests made by a ball player—and there have been screwy ones before.

Baseball players are a breed unlike any other. With many it's easy come, easy go. Others have superstitions which must be guarded against at all times. Some play hard and live hard, some play hard and takes things easy off the field and vice versa.

In Chico's case, it seems like somebody has been giving him bad dope.

Baseball has been good to the former White Sox and now Cleveland shortstop. At least there's every indication that he is making a living wage.

If he is interested in playing ball a few more years (he's 28 and eligible) it would seem logical that he would want to be in top physical shape to insure a longer career—and more healthy paychecks.

After playing with a third-place club for quite a while, you would think Chico would welcome a chance to move to Cleveland—a step up the ladder according to American League standards.

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, "and, although he may be reinstated in other sports, he'll never run in another track meet."

Since there is no professional track in this country, Santee, for all intents and purposes, is finished.

The AAU said he had received about $700 over expenses for last year's Modesto - Stockton meet, about $290 unaccounted for during last year's Chicago and Cleveland indoor meets, and about $150 which he couldn't explain for the Philadelphia and Washington meets of 1955.

The executive committee of the AAU met for more than 11 hours discussing the case of the 23-year-old Marine lieutenant, whose 4:00.5 is the fastest ever by an American miler. The committee heard Santee for almost an hour before deciding.

"We don't know what they're talking about," said Santee's attorney, Charles P. Grimes. "It is perfectly clear the executive committee has no jurisdiction in the case and we plan to bring suit to enjoin the AAU from carrying out its suspension."

Said Santee: "I deny I made any money out of track and field as they said I did. I am extremely disappointed. I believe the AAU has violated its own constitution in suspending me."

The AAU said it had seven instances of Santee accepting more than the allowed expense money, adding that it announced three merely to give examples.

Grimes and Santee did not hear the investigation committee report. After the suspension Grimes asked reporters what was said in the post-meeting discussion to which they were permitted.

"How can we deny anything when we don't know what we're being accused of," he said. "But to matter what they said, I'm convinced we'll win complete vindication of Wes."

Grimes added: "If they have any evidence it should be presented to the Missouri Valley Assn."

It was the MVA which originally suspended Santee, following an inquiry into his expense accounts for the three West Coast meets. The MVA reversed itself last November, however, on grounds of insufficient evidence.

The case has been boiling ever since.

Last December, the AAU set up a special committee—dubbed the "Secret Seven"—to reappraise the Santee situation. It was this special committee which placed its findings before the executive group today.

Pincus Sober, chairman of the AAU Track and Field Committee, headed the special investigating group and read its report—consuming almost 5 hours of the executive committee session—today.

Santee, fully aware "my whole career as an athlete is jeopardized," was before the executive committee for almost an hour after Sober's reading.

sion in the world—the latter might be picking bananas in Venezuela.

That's what they say—Terry Brennan, Notre Dame coach: "Press defense is undoubtedly the most important phase of football, particularly on the college and professional level. Perhaps in no other phase of the game can one mistake be so costly, so often. There is nothing more discouraging to a team than to have a hard-earned point margin wiped away by a slow reacting man in the secondary."

Comment: How true. And the Irish teams seldom have slow reacting secondary men. Pete Elliott's work with the Oklahoma pass defense certainly paid dividends for the Sooners and indicates the Huskers will get a full ration of work on this phase of the game.

Bobby Bragan, Pittsburgh manager: "I don't intend to tolerate inefficient umpiring any more than I do inefficient playing. I trust that umpires in the big leagues do a better job than those in the minors. If they can't cut the mustard in the majors they should be dropped to a lower league, just as the players. I see no reason to put any harness on myself. I'm just going to do what comes naturally."

Comment: Joe Brown wants to inject some life and color into the last-place Bucs—and it looks like Bragan won't be caught short in that department. But the umpires better prepare to defend themselves.

Meet Loop-Leaders

Huskers To Test Kansas State Tonight

Coach Jerry Bush's Huskers will attempt to play the role of "giant killers" again tonight when they tangle with Kansas State, tied for the Big Seven conference lead with Iowa State.

Kansas State didn't play any conference games last week and Iowa

State's victory enabled the Cyclones to grab a share of the loop lead.

The Cyclones face another stiff test tonight, entertaining the dangerous Missouri Tigers. The Tigers are currently tied with Kansas for fourth in the conference, with a 4-4 record.

Colorado, third in the Big Seven, hosts undermanned Oklahoma to complete tonight's slate.

Class Leaders Hold On In Pre-Tourney Rating

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

Minden, Clarkson, Utica and Holstein are the leaders in The Star's final pre-tournament basketball ratings in Classes B, C, D and E. The leaders held their positions during the final week of regular-season play. Final ratings in the four lower classes will appear after the state tournament.

Minden and Wayne rank one-two ahead of a jumbled Class B field. Minden beat Lexington, Superior and Broken Bow last week to boost its season record to 13-2. Wayne beat strong Columbus St. Bonaventure and Pender, the latter in the Husker League playoff.

Major changes in the Class B list were the addition of Valentine (10th), the rise of Loup City (3rd) and the fall of St. Bonaventure.

Valentine sports a 13-4 record and a 10-2 mark in Nebraska competition. Nebraska losses were to Gordon and Ainsworth; Valentine beat Ainsworth twice in three meetings. Sutton dropped out of the Top Ten.

St. Bon fell from third to seventh after an overtime loss to Wayne and a second loss to Class C leader Clarkson. Loup City, showing only a defeat by Central City, took over St. Bon's third-place spot.

In Class C, Seward Concordia made the week's top showing and climbed back into the Top Ten. Concordia beat Class B Hebron and

Kretlow Wins Baseball Golf

By MERCER BAILEY

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lou Kretlow, Kansas City pitcher, scrambled to a 2 and 1 victory over defending champion Alvin Dark Sunday in the finals of the National Baseball Players Golf Tournament.

Kretlow's ability to recover after wild drives enabled him to edge the New York Giants shortstop, who was plagued with putting troubles.

"I'm always wild off the tee," Kretlow commented. "But I was unusually wild Sunday. It seemed like I missed more fairways than I hit. My chipping saved me."

"Getting it in the hole is all that counts," Dark interjected as he congratulated Kretlow.

The new champion, who reached the finals in 1954 but lost to Freddie Hutchinson, closed out the match with a 3-foot putt for a par on 17. Dark missed a 6-footer for a birdie which would have extended play.

Finished Scrambling

The Athletics pitcher finished in the same fashion he played most of the round—scrambling. His approach shot was far to the right of the green but he chipped up just 3 feet from the cup.

Feeling the pressure, he spent plenty of time lining up his putt and once turned and walked away, then started all over again. When he finally stroked it, the ball scooted for the hole as if on a string.

Dark, who beat Cleveland Manager Al Lopez for his title last year, hit 16 of the 17 greens but 3-putted five of them.

Mile Features N.U. Varsity, Freshman Meet

One of the top races in the Nebraska varsity-freshman track meet Tuesday night at the stadium should develop in the mile, according to Coach Frank Sevine.

Another close test will come in the high jump where Larry Gausman, sophomore, who has done 6-3 will be matched with Duane Smith, freshman from York. Smith holds the Nebraska high school record at 6-5½ but his best mark this winter has been 6-3.

Four Classes To Be Cut To 56 Best; Tutors, Bluebirds Set

Defending Champions Are Favorites In Districts

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

It's do or die for 446 Nebraska high school basketball teams this week.

District tournaments in Classes B, C, D and E begin today and continue through Saturday. By the end of the week, the field of 446 teams will be trimmed to 56 for district playoffs the following week.

Tournament play will be held at eight sites in Class B, and 16 sites in Classes C, D and E. Winners

Today's Tourney Sites

of the tournaments go into playoffs next week; playoff winners come to the state tournament in Lincoln March 8, 9 and 10.

The defending champions in the four lower classes of high school play should get through their districts without too much trouble.

Minden, the Class B champ and current state leader, will compete at McCook. The Whippets open the tournament Tuesday against Waukena.

The McCook tournament includes a balanced field. Chappell, Gibbon, Grant and Hastings St. Cecilia have shown good potential, but Minden is the favorite.

Class C champ Chadron Prep plays Hemingford Wednesday in the district tourney at Chadron High. Prep, defeated only once this season and still unbeaten in Nebraska competition, figures to meet either Morrill or Hay Springs in the tourney finals and should win on the basis of past performances.

Class D champion Western, gunning for an unprecedented third straight title in its division, is in the Fairbury Junior College tournament which opens tonight.

Western's first-round opponent is Barneston. The Indians figure to win the tournament, although Holmesville or Plymouth may challenge.

Holstein, the Class E champ, is the state leader in the lowest division of Nebraska high school basketball. Holstein's record is marred only by five forfeits.

Holstein should have little trouble in the Wood River district tournament which opens Tuesday.

Other strong contenders for the titles appear to be Hebron, Wayne, Loup City, Columbus St. Bonaventure and University High in Class B; Clarkson in Class C; Utica, Springfield and Brady in Class D; and Tobias and Bellwood Marietta in Class E.

The scrambled Class B field indicates a wide-open race for the title. The leading contenders should get through their districts with little trouble.

Hebron enters district play on its home court and must contend with Sutton and Tecumseh, the latter a much-improved team. St. Bonaventure should have no trouble in the Oakland district, and Wayne should breeze on its home court.

Loup City may have a struggle at Central City, where Central City, Grand Island St. Mary's and Aurora figure to be tough. University High has a comparatively easy task at Wahoo.

A strong Class C field is headed by Clarkson, undefeated and tour-Chadron Prep in the state finals last year, has a good record and is "hungry."

Clarkson is host to a district tournament and should win, although Genoa may press.

Utica, The Star's Class D leader, should get through the Seward tournament. Brady, a state tournament-wise Clarkson lost to ney entrant the past two years, should breeze at Anselmo.

Springfield, unbeaten until last Friday night, is the club to beat at the Dana College tourney in Blair.

Unbeaten Tobias and strong Bellwood Marietta are the two top challengers in Class E. Tobias figures to win the Swanton district handily, and Marietta should breeze at Monroe.

Wave Of Upsets Shakes Nation's Cage 'Powers'

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
By The Associated Press

Illinois, Alabama, Southern Methodist and UCLA—remaining undefeated in conference competition—rolled along with the tide despite a wave of upsets Saturday that left a host of the nation's leading teams slightly submerged in stature Monday.

St. Francis of Brooklyn, listed 13th in the weekly Associated Press poll, created the biggest splash by being knocked out of the unbeaten ranks by St. Joseph's of Pennsylvania 80-76 after having run up a string of 18 straight victories. The setback left top-rated San Francisco as the lone unbeaten major school.

Other leading clubs to fall by the wayside Saturday included North Carolina State, No. 5; Kentucky, No. 7; Holy Cross, No. 16 and St. Louis, No. 17.

League Leaders

Meanwhile, the illini, 'Bama, SMU and UCLA moved a step closer toward winning their league races and an automatic berth in the NCAA post-season tournament.

Third-ranked Illinois caught fire in the second half to bury Michigan State 96-76 and continue its drive toward the Big 10 title. The victory was the Illini's ninth consecutive in league play and 16th in 17 games. Paul Judson and Bill Ridley paced Illinois' well-balanced attack with 18 and 16 points, respectively, while Julius McCoy

Archie Moore Back In Ring Against King

By JACK HAND

Archie Moore returns to the ring for the first time since he was knocked out by Rocky Marciano to box Howard King Monday in a 10-round match at San Francisco. The light-heavyweight champion, whose title will not be at stake against King, also has lined up a Feb. 27 non-title match with Dave Whitlock.

Eddie Machen, 22-year-old unbeaten San Francisco heavyweight, steps into the spotlight of a nationally televised show (ABC) Wednesday to box Cuba's Julio Mederos at the opening of the San Francisco Garden.

Rory Calhoun, another unbeaten youngster who has won 17 in the middleweight division, tops the Monday card at St. Nicholas Arena in New York (Dumont-TV) against Angelo DeFendis, a rugged Brooklyn slugger.

Rocky Castellani, ranked among the first five in the middleweight division despite his upset defeat by Gene Fullmer, Jan. 4, comes in Madison Square Garden Friday to take on John L. Sullivan, an English import who has won two in a row since he was stopped by Eduardo Lausse in Castellani's hometown, Cleveland, Dec. 7. It will be on radio and TV (NBC).

Kid Gavilan who always managed to stir up a controversy when he fights, is scheduled to take on Germaine Ballarin, a French middleweight in Paris Thursday. Ballarin has won his last five fights by knockouts.

19 Nominated To Gage Board

BEATRICE — The nominating committee of the Gage County Fish and Wildlife Association has submitted a list of 19 names as nominees to the board of directors. The nominating committee members are Bud Salisbury, chairman, Len Currier and Dr. F. W. Beckman.

Club members will ballot and elect nine of the group to the board at the annual ham dinner meeting of the club at St. Paul's Lutheran Church Tuesday, Feb. 28. The meeting begins at 6 p.m. Included on the program are a report on the Burchard Lake project by the land acquisition committee of the club and two speakers from the Nebraska Game Commission.

Kathy Cornelius Grabs Golf Crown

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., (AP)—Kathy Cornelius won her first major golf title Sunday, breaking the St. Petersburg Women's Open record by six strokes with a 287.

The 23-year-old Lake Worth, Fla., professional, chipping and putting to perfection, finished with a two-under-par 72.

Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kan., was second four strokes back. Fine iron play was Miss Smith's strong point as she shot 71 for a 72-hole total of 291.

Defending champion Patty Berg equalled the 293 which gave her a tournament record last year, but it was good only for third place this time. Miss Berg shot a 74.

- 2—Illinois (16-1).
- 3—Vanderbilt (18-2).
- 4—Louisville (20-2).
- 5—Dayton (19-2).
- 6—North Carolina State (19-3).
- 7—Temple (19-1).
- 8—Alabama (16-3).
- 9—North Carolina (16-3).
- 10—Kentucky (16-4).

Second Ten: 11—Southern Methodist (19-2); 12—Houston (18-3); 13—St. Francis (N.Y.) (17-1); 14—Iowa State (16-3); 15—Duke (16-5); 16—Seton Hall (18-3); 17—Holy Cross (19-4); 18—Cincinnati (16-4); 19—UCLA (15-3); 20—Oklahoma City (16-4).

Two vital SEC games are on tap this week. Vanderbilt visits Kentucky (9-4) tonight and the Wildcats clash with Alabama at Montgomery Saturday.

Southern Methodist, No. 12, came from behind to whip Texas A&M 92-86 and boost its Southwest Conference mark to 9-0, while 20th-ranked UCLA trimmed Oregon State 72-59 for the Bruins' 10th successive Pacific Coast Conference conquest.

NIT-bound St. Francis rallied in the final three minutes and finally sliced St. Joseph's lead to 77-76 with 1:25 to go. But the Hawks went into a freeze that forced the Brooklyn team to foul. St. Joseph's then sealed the verdict by sinking three free throws.

North Carolina State bowed to Maryland 71-62 as the Terps came from behind with a late surge. The loss cost the Wolfpack a chance to move into a first place tie with North Carolina in the Atlantic Coast Conference standings. N. C. State, now tied for second with Duke and Wake Forest at 9-3, meets North Carolina at Raleigh Tuesday.

DePaul edged Kentucky 81-79 to avenge an earlier defeat. Dick Heise's driving layup won 17 seconds left for the winning basket climaxed a DePaul comeback.

Holy Cross, already named as an "at large" entrant for the NCAA tourney, was joined by Canisius 71-60 as the Griffins' Johnny McCarthy broke the game wide open by converting six free throws in the last minute.

Littler Wins Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Gene Littler, the laconic blond from Palm Springs, Calif., strung seven birdies on a great closing string for a 7-under-par 65 Sunday to win the $20,000 Texas Open with 276 for 72 holes.

As stoic as one of the few trees that dot the 6,566-yard Fort Sam Houston course, Littler merely commented that "I played well" as he wound up with a fine iron shot that left him only 6 inches from the pin for a birdie on the 18th hole.

The 25-year-old star of the tournament trail, a heavy money-winner but without a winter tournament victory until Sunday, won the tournament by two strokes. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, came in with a 67 that would have given him 277 but after the score was posted, a stroke was taken away from him on a ruling on the fifth hole where he played a provisional ball.

Thus Stranahan wound up in a three-way tie for second with Mike Fetchick of Mahopac, N. Y., and Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, all with 278.

Syracuse Climbs To Third Place

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—The surging Syracuse Nationals climbed over New York into third place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn., Sunday by thumping the Knickerbockers 118-98.

Dolph Schayes led Syracuse to its fifth straight victory with 31 points, as the sharp-shooting Nats hit on 50 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Despite fine marksmanship by Gene Shue, who paced the Knicks with 26 points, Syracuse wrapped it up with a 34-point first period. By winning their seventh game in nine clashes with the Knicks, the Nats clinched the season's series against the losers, and dropped New York into fourth place, half a game behind Syracuse.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dayton's Flyers, second ranked in the nation, came from behind Sunday night to defeat Xavier of Ohio 85-75 for its 20th victory in 22 games. The Musketeers held a 43-40 advantage over the Flyers at halftime, then fell behind in the closing minutes of the game.

Dayton was unable to get a firm grasp on the lead until less than five minutes to play, when center Bill Uhl dropped in a basket to put the Flyers ahead 71-70. The Flyers rolled up 14 points to Xavier's 4 in the last five minutes to seal the victory.

The score was tied 15 times in the game, 10 times in the second half, and the lead changed hands six times after halftime.

Celtics Win Over Warriors

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics, with five players hitting well into double figures, edged the Philadelphia Warriors, 120-118, in a rough National Basketball Assn. game Sunday at the Boston Arena.

The Boston high scorers were Bob Cousy with 24 points, Bill Sharman with 23, Ed Macauley with 20, rookie Jim Loscutt with 18 and Jack Nichols with 17.

The loss was the first in nine games for Philadelphia, in first place in the NBA's Eastern Division 5½ games ahead of Boston.

Paul Arizin of Philadelphia took individual scoring honors with 15 baskets and nine free throws for 39 points. However, he tired badly in the final period, hitting only one of nine attempts from the floor and missing four of his last five foul shots.

The lead changed 20 times before the Celtics, sparked by Togo Palazzi went ahead to stay midway through the finale. Philadelphia held the game's biggest advantage—103-96—in the opening minutes of the fourth period, but the Celtics surged back.

Ennis Gets Raise

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Del Ennis signed his 1956 contract with the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday at what General Manager Roy Hamey called a "substantial increase."

Newsmen estimated the big right fielder will be getting about $32,500 this year.

Ennis batted .296 last season. He hit 29 home runs and drove in 121 runs in 146 games.

For their 1956 Porsche, run 500 miles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Stearns, the couple on the right, received full new car price plus sales tax — $3580 — also $1510 for their 1955 Volkswagen. The other couple, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. S. Kerns, received $2045 for loss of their 1955 Chevrolet. Farmers Insurance Group Adjuster James E. Gwinn and District Agent L. J. Greene of Santa Cruz, Calif., are pictured paying the claims. Mr. Stearns wrote, "They were not only prompt, but they didn't act like it was 'breaking their hearts' to help us."

When the floods came to California a few days ago, the well-organized network of Farmers Insurance Group offices jumped into emergency action. To speed up payments, a special crew of adjusters rushed to flood areas, seeking out policy-

Brawl Enlivens Win By Lakers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Plastering the Rochester Royals with their fifth straight defeat, the Minneapolis Lakers scored a 100-93 National Basketball Assn. victory before 5,887 fans here Sunday.

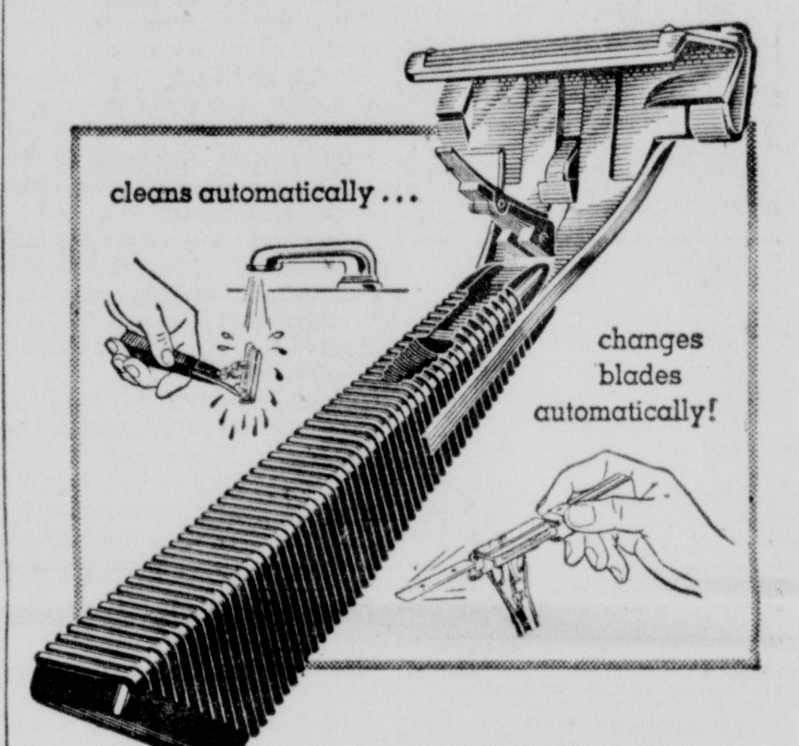

A third-quarter fight involving most of the players from both teams enlivened the struggle. Don Meineke of Rochester and Clyde Lovellette of Minneapolis mixed it up to trigger the squabble, which later involved Ed Fleming of Rochester and the Lakers' Slater Martin and Dick Garmaker.

The officials quelled the disturbance after dishing out fouls against the original battlers.

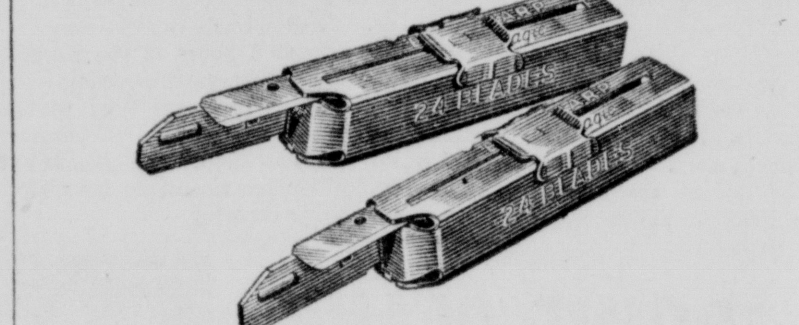

A well-balanced Laker attack, led by Lovellette's 19 points, gave Minneapolis its fourth victory in five starts and cemented their position in second place in the NBA's Western Division.

Sightless Scientist Develops 'Wrist Radar' To Help Blind

WASHINGTON (INS)—A blind physicist working at a small college in Pennsylvania has developed a tiny "personal radar set" for the blind.

By holding the electronic device in his hand, a blind man can tell how far he is from an obstacle. The gadget taps a different finger depending on the distance between him and possible danger.

Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif.) found out about "this little box" because he is such a loyal alumnus of Haverford College in Pennsylvania.

Phillips, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, was questioning Dr. W. S. Middleton, chief medical director of the Veterans Administration, during committee hearings on the VA budget last month.

There It Was

He asked Middleton about experimental work for the blind, and the VA official furnished a list of colleges where the VA supports various research projects. Haverford was on it.

According to a transcript of the hearings made public Sunday, he learned all about the "personal radar" device.

He said it was developed by a blind specialist in Haverford's physics department whom he did not identify.

Phillips continued: "It used to be such a big device you would have to wheel it on a small cart."

But because new electronic transistors are so small, he added, "you now put it in your hand and when a little gadget begins to tap on the first finger, that means the object (the blind man) is about to bump into it so many feet away."

"If it taps on the second finger, it is a little nearer and if it taps on the third finger, as he carries it, it is still nearer and the fourth finger is being saved to see if they can tell when he is about to step off the curb."

'Able To Live Again' Series—Five To Six Million Persons Have Serious Hearing Loss

Dr. E. S. Maness and Dr. John H. Wiley said Sunday that five to six million persons in the United States have a serious hearing loss.

Dr. Wiley, associate professor of speech therapy at the University of Nebraska, and Dr. Maness, Lincoln ear specialist, spoke on "Rehabilitation of the Hard of Hearing" at the University of Nebraska.

Deafness is divided into two categories, Dr. Maness said. Sound deafness affects the nerve or inner ear and as yet there is no means available to cure it, he said. The nerve has no means of self-repair and does not have a protective covering.

"With conductive deafness the sound cannot get to the inner ear," Dr. Maness said, "but this can sometimes be corrected."

There are very few people who are so deaf that a hearing aid could not help them, Dr. Maness said.

Lose Certain Sounds

Dr. Wiley said that persons may suffer loss of hearing of only certain sounds, in which case a hearing aid, which acts as an amplifier, would be of little use.

"In small children who have marked deafness it is amazing how well they can learn how to use a hearing aid," he said.

Children as young as three months can be aided with other forms of rehabilitation and should be taken to a specialist as soon as deafness is discovered, Dr. Maness said.

Many times a child is thought to be retarded when he simply cannot hear, Dr. Maness pointed out. "At least five to six per cent of all school children have a hearing loss important enough to be taken care of," Dr. Wiley said.

Deaf, Not Stupid

"So many times people think others who are deaf are just stupid," Dr. Maness said, "because deaf persons do not look any different from other people."

Now that people are living longer there will be more problems, he said, because the ear wears out sooner than other parts of the body.

A Veterans Administration training film, "You Can Hear Again," was presented prior to the speeches. The film followed the rehabilitation of a veteran from the time he first discovered his hearing loss to his normal recovery with the help of a hearing aid.

The program was the second in the "Able to Live Again" series. Next Sunday Dr. George Covey will speak on "Rehabilitating Your Heart."

Participating in the presentation of the programs are the Lancaster County Medical Society, Mayor's Committee for Employment of Handicapped, Nebraska Department of Rehabilitation Services, Nebraska Physical Therapy Association and The Lincoln Sunday Journal and Star.

Easter Seal Drive Goal Is $20,000

A goal of $20,000 was announced Sunday for the annual Easter fund drive of the Lancaster County Committee of the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children.

Funds for the assistance of the handicapped in the county are raised annually through the spring drive, which this year will include the annual sale of Easter Seals, a benefit theater party for children, and a downtown solicitation for funds called the "lily parade."

A larger goal has been set this year, Chairman LeRoy T. Laase announced, because the Lancaster County group's reserve fund has been exhausted by heavy demands within the county.

Funds raised in Lancaster County are used for purchasing wheel chairs, braces and other equipment for handicapped persons who cannot afford them and for support of programs being carried on for the education and training of the handicapped in the Lincoln Public Schools and the University of Nebraska.

In announcing the goal, Dr. Laase stressed that needs in the community in the last two years have required the spending of more than was raised in the last two fund drives.

"We have helped more children to walk and talk and to laugh and play, and we don't want to have to cut back our help to those children," Dr. Laase said. "The community is growing and it is important that we meet the increasing needs of the city and county," he said.

A small part of funds raised locally is used to support national and state research programs, Dr. Laase said, but most of the money is spent locally to meet Lincoln and Lancaster County needs.

The Society aids any handicapped person who cannot afford equipment or training, and all aid is granted without regard to race or religion, Dr. Laase added.

Sex Psychopath Sent To State Mental Hospital

A 46-year-old Lincoln man recently involved with two young Lincoln girls has been committed to the State Mental Hospital as a sexual psychopath.

A voluntary affidavit admitting a long history of sexual maladjustment and inability to control his sexual impulses was signed by the man.

The man was arrested by State Highway patrolmen on Jan. 28 near Lincoln in his auto with a 10-year-old girl and her 11-year-old sister.

At the hearing on the case, Dr. Robert J. Stein and Dr. Paul A. Royal, Lincoln psychiatrists, testified in Lancaster District Court on findings of an examination.

Commitment to the State Hospital for a sexual psychopath is mandatory under a law passed by the Legislature in 1955. Such an individual is confined for life or until released by the court as having been cured.

GOP Pre-Primary Opens Monday; Demos Plan None

Lancaster County Republicans will hold their pre-primary convention Monday at the Cornhusker Hotel. Chairman Chauncey Barney will preside.

Plans called for selection of delegates to the state convention and short talks by announced candidates, who will be headed by Gov. Victor E. Anderson.

Lancaster County Democrats plan no pre-primary convention. Joe Ginsburg, county Democratic chairman, pointed out that when the law requiring pre-primary conventions was repealed, the Democrats ceased to hold them, on either state or county levels, although Republicans still hold them in accordance with their own party rules.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Island Sex

HELENA, Mont. (P)—Montana's male land commissioner, Lou Bretzke, has been honored by having a river island named after him despite Montana custom which provides that all such lands in Montana rivers be given a feminine name. The island was called "Lou Island."

Small potatoes are hard to peel. Throw in another bushel and let's mash 'em.

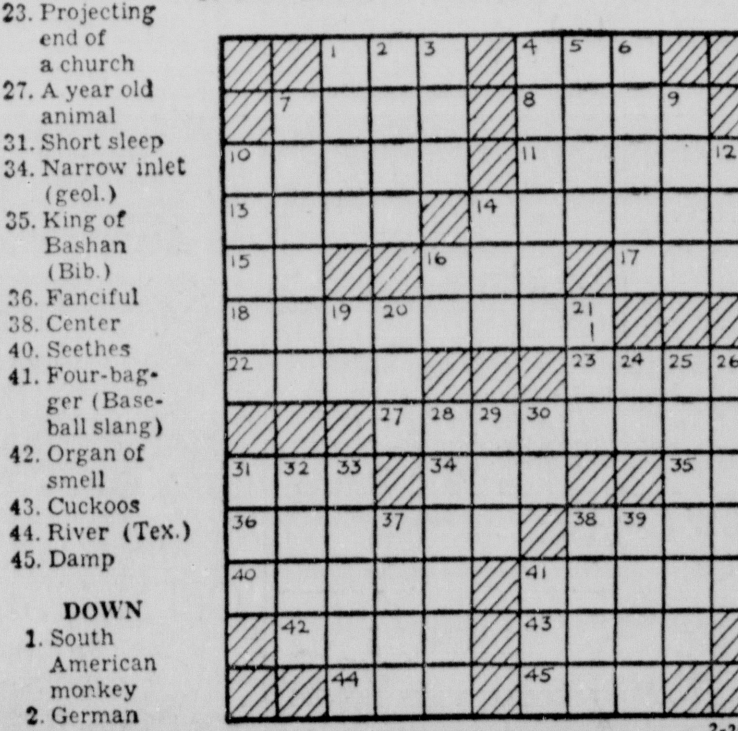

Insurance Firms Pay Baby Bonus

CHICAGO (INS)—Having babies is fun-and profitable, too—for employees of the Kemper Insurance Group in Chicago. The group grants a $150 bonus for each new-born baby to help ease the financial burdens of parenthood. About $50,000 a year is distributed to some 350 Kemper employees through the program. As for the logic of the plan itself, personnel manager William J. Hindman said, "An employee with children is a much more responsible employee."

ST. ALBANS, W. Va. (P)—A group of neighbors told the City Council that a newly installed street light should be removed or shaded. One irate home owner explained: "The light shines in our picture window and interferes with watching TV programs."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
